Kidnapped Girl Shot to Death; Suitor Suicides

Vancouver Burglary Suspect Kills Sweetheart After Shooting Father

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP)—Cornered by police after a wild chase, a 25-year-old burglar suspect today shot and killed his sweetheart and then committed suicide with a .32 automatic.

Police said Frank Steele, 23, who had wounded the girl's father in a gun battle an hour earlier, shot Betty Webber, 19, through the eye in the bathroom of an apartment he had rented yesterday. Then he shot himself through the ear, police said.

Steele and the girl had been scheduled to appear in county court today to face trial on a burglary charge.

Police said Steele apparently wanted to prevent the girl from testifying.

He went to the girl's home about an hour before court opened, broke down the door and shot Harry Webber, 52, in the right leg when Webber tried to prevent him from speaking to his daughter. Neighbors said the girl had been going out with Steele against her father's wishes.

ACCOMPLICE HELD

Police said Steele and another man with him forced the girl at gunpoint into a car. They fled.

The other man was picked up soon after. Police held him as a material witness.

Squads of police chased Steele's fire-red car through city streets but lost him.

They then received a tip that Steele had rented an apartment on West Sixth Avenue yesterday. Warned that Steele was armed, they approached with drawn guns from four sides.

They heard two shots as they closed in. They found the two bodies in the bathroom.

Police said it was possible Steele had intended to hide out in the apartment until he could leave the city.

Steele and the girl were charged with three others with breaking an entering a sportswear factory May 5 and stealing clothing valued at $2,800. Steele's bail had been set at $3,000, the girl's at $1,000.

The girl's hair was still up in pincurls when she was found dead.

VICTIM, KILLER SEPARATED BY THIN CURTAIN

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP)—Only a thin curtain in the emergency ward of Vancouver General Hospital separated a wounded father from a dying gunman who had shot him and an hour later killed his pretty daughter.

Harry Webber, shot in the leg, was aware that the dying man in the next cot was Frank Steele, who had shot him more than an hour before.

But Webber did not know that Steele had killed his daughter Betty and then put a bullet into his own head in a suite as armed police closed in on the hideout.

Steele, burglar, drug addict and gunman, died minutes after he was taken to the hospital.

Webber, wounded in the leg by a bullet from Steele's gun, was released from hospital at noon after his wound was treated.

Len Walters Wins Olympic Boxing Match

HELSINKI, July 28—Canadian featherweight Leonard Walters of Vancouver today outpointed an Egyptian boxer to win his match in the Olympic Games featherweight competition first round

The 20-year-old Walters took an unanimous decision from El Din Ahmed Fathi in the three-round match.

See page 8 for earlier stories on Olympics.

Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Gerry McNamee, of Vancouver, each finished third in their respective heats in the men's 400-metre freestyle swimming championship. Best times will govern qualifications.

The United States basketball team, paced by giant Bob Kurland, smothered Russia, European champions 86-58 in a crucial semifinal game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Americans, who have never lost an Olympic basketball tilt, and the first defeat for the Russians.

In the overall Olympic point-scoring Russia is leading the U.S. by 120 points, 496½ to 376. In the track events which concluded Sunday the U.S. topped Russia 219 to 103½.

Crash Claims Another Life

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. July 28 (BUP)—The death toll in a car-truck collision near Port Edwards, in the Prince Rupert district, last week, rose to three today with the death in Prince Rupert General Hospital of Rev. C. S. Deacon, retired missionary from South America.

He was fatally injured Thursday in the crash which took the lives of the 72-year-old Anglican Bishp of Columbia, Bishop James Gibson, and Mrs. Gibson.

JOHNSON WAITS ON GOVERNOR

Resignation May Follow Conference

By GORDON FORBES

Premier Johnson at press time today was at Government House, presumably discussing with Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace plans for resignation of British Columbia's Liberal "caretaker" government.

Mr. Johnson went to Government House after consultation with his cabinet ministers.

The conference apparently was called after the premier heard Judge James McGeer had refused to continue a recount in Vancouver-Burrard on a technicality. The word "Vancouver" before the word "Burrard" had been left off the recount application.

Dismissal of the application means the elections results cannot be upset. Social Credit's 19 seats cannot be altered.

Judge McGeer said he has no power to amend C.C.F. Grant MacNeil's application for a recount.

Judge McGeer said: "If the legislature intended me to have the powers to amend, the electoral act would have said so. If I acted, I would be flaunting the will of the people."

Another recount, in Vancouver-Point Grey, is expected to be concluded Tuesday.

No announcement has come from Premier Johnson's office, but either of three developments could arise from the premier's talk to the Lieutenant-Governor.

1. Premier Johnson could submit his resignation and those of his ministers today, and the Lieutenant-Governor could accept them and call upon Social Credit leader W. A. C. Bennett to form a government immediately.

2. The premier could submit the resignations and the Lieutenant-Governor accept them at his pleasure—within a few days, by which time Mr. Bennett could be in Victoria.

3. The premier and the Lieutenant-Governor could merely decide on a resignation date at which time the resignations would be submitted, and accepted, and the government turned over to Social Crediters all on the same day.

Sewell Resigns

CINCINNATI, July 28 (AP).—Luke Sewell resigned today as manager of Cincinnati Reds.

He had been manager since Oct. 23, 1949.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the National League club, said he had asked Sewell to continue as manager "until we can get a suitable replacement which we expect to have within 24 hours."

Macau-Reds Border Open

HONG KONG, July 28 (AP)—The border between Macau and Communist China was reopened today after two week-end border clashes in which China charged Portuguese guards killed 60 Red troops.

A Chinese peace mission reached Macau Sunday and promptly demanded financial indemnity, accusing the Portuguese of an unprovoked attack on Chinese border guards.

WARNING GIVEN SHAH

Mossadegh Has Plans To End Oil Blockade

TEHRAN, Iran, July 28 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Sunday night promised "exploitation of Iran's oil resources," indicating confident hopes of a settlement with Britain that would end the crippling blockade of this near bankrupt nation's chief money maker.

As the premier spoke to parliament at the height of new popularity, the newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz, which often reflects his views, hinted to the Shah that he should never stand in the way of the Nationalists if he wants to avoid being ousted like Egypt's Farouk.

Mossadegh's plan for exploiting Iran's oil riches is part of a program for drastic reforms to lift the country from its present economic plight. His program called also for higher taxes, land reforms, and work projects for the unemployed—measures which are bound to be opposed by many wealthy supporters of the government.

Debate on the premier's program is scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Mossadegh was reported to have notified Britain during the week-end that Iran is willing to begin talks on compensation for the oil properties seized last year by the British, although they were successful in ousting the British, the Iranians have failed to get around a British ban on foreign ships handling the oil.

In its oblique warning to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, Bakhtar Emrooz said the fall of Farouk means "that the highest authorities and local or foreign officials cannot oppose the wishes of the people."

The paper said that opposition to the interests of the people had not reached the point here that it did in Egypt.

"Otherwise," the paper warned, "it would be possible for the incident of Egypt (Farouk's forced exile) to take place in Iran."

MATTHEWS SURPRISING 179 FOR FIGHT TONIGHT

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Harry Matthews, the Seattle kid, weighed a surprising 179 pounds at the weigh-in ceremonies for his 10-round bout with Rocky Marciano in Yankee Stadium tonight. Marciano weighed 187½.

For his May 19 bout with Rex Layne in Portland, Ore., Matthews weighed 183½ and manager. Jack Hurley had announced his athlete would register 182 for this bout.

Marciano weighed 187 when he knocked out Joe Louis, former champion, last winter.

Although it was bright and sunny as the two weighed in, the weather bureau predicted possible showers for tonight.

The fight, which will be held without radio or television casts, is scheduled for 9 p.m. (E.S.T. (7 p.m. Victoria Time). If rain interferes it will be held Tuesday night.

I.W.A. Accepts Sloan's Proposals to End Strike

'Pat' Cole Killed; Friend Injured

Motorcycles Collide Simultaneously With Car at Cook, View Intersection

A well-known city motorcyclist was killed and a second youth was injured Sunday night when their two machines collided simultaneously with an old-model car at View and Cook.

Dead is John "Pat" Cole, 21, of 2745 Scott Street, who succumbed to injuries at Jubilee Hospital about one hour after the accident.

He sustained a fractured skull, internal injuries and a broken leg.

Injured but in good condition at hospital today is the second motorcyclist, Barry R. Stranix, 20, of 2214 Sayward, an employee of the Victoria Press Ltd. commercial printing department.

He is recovering from head injuries and cuts.

Driver of the car was reported by police to be Robert E. Forscutt, 574 Bay.

His wife and small daughter were in the car with him.

Police said the two motocyclists were traveling north on Cook and the car, west on View, when the collision occurred. All three vehicles received medium damage.

City police ambulances took the injured cyclists to hospital.

INQUEST SET

An inquest will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Hayward's funeral home into the death of Cole.

One of the most popular members of Victoria motorcycling circles, "Pat" Cole had been an employee of Les Blow motorcycle sales on Douglas for the past three years and was the subject of a feature story in the July 25 edition of the Victoria Times.

Although he stood no more than four feet two inches, the 21-year-old mechanic placed in the first three in cross-country motor-cycle trials on an English machine that weighed only five pounds less than its rider.

FINE RIDER

His boss, Les Blow, said of him: "Pat had a tougher grind of it by a long shot than the average Joe on a motor-cycle over rough, hazardous trails in a cross-country trial.

"His legs weren't long enough to enable him to use his feet, like most riders . . . he simply had to drive it 'straight'—and he did remarkably well."

Mr. Blow said that working with motor-cycle riders of the city gave "Pat" a "confidence in himself that he never had before."

He is survived by his parents.

8 Killed in Crush to See Eva's Body

BUENOS AIRES, July 28 (AP).—Eight persons were reported dead and scores injured in the crush today as thousands crowded up to pay last homage to Eva Peron.

Doctors manning improvised first aid stations near the ministry of labor, where the body of Argentina's first lady was lying in state, said some deaths resulted from trampling, others from heart failure.

They said thousands were given first aid, but most of these had only fainted. Many, however, suffered fractured legs or arms.

Troops hurried in to help police control the crowds as they lined up four abreast in mile-long queues for a 20-second walk past the bier of President Juan D. Peron's wife and political partner, who died Saturday night after a long illness.

Many waited eight hours for a glimpse of the body.

Peron spent much of Sunday beside the casket. After a private funeral mass, attended only by government ministers and intimate friends, he ordered the restless crowds admitted. They had shouted to see the body, and once broke a police cordon to get closer to the entrance.

Noted Senator Dies in U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon, 48, a Connecticut Democrat with a passion for peace and a key role in the United States atomic energy program, died today of a spinal ailment.

He entered hospital last month for an operation.

Approval Is Conditional; Operators Ask More Time

The I.W.A. is prepared to end its six-week-old coast lumber strike on terms proposed last week by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan.

Decision of lumber operators as to whether they will accept terms outlined in the Sloan settlement formula will not be known, however, until 5 p.m.

Both sides were to have notified the chief justice of their decision by noon.

J. S. Stewart Alsbury, district president of the International Woodworkers of America, telephoned His Lordship at 11.45 a.m., informing him that his terms for settling the multi-million-dollar strike were acceptable to the union's membership, subject to three provisions.

These were:

(1) That there be no discrimination against any of those participating in the strike;

(2) That the Sloan terms be incorporated into a proper agreement and signed before work resumes;

(3) That all injunctions and claims against union personnel be lifted.

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., spokesman for the 162 lumber operators involved, telephoned the chief justice before Mr. Alsbury and reported management had been unable to reach a decision but felt an answer could be given before tonight if an extension of time were allowed.

Chief Justice Sloan consented to a five-hour extension.

CHIEF JUSTICE PLEASED

The quiet-spoken head of the province's judiciary, said he was pleased that the union had found his terms acceptable. He said he would reserve further comment on the matter until he had been notified of the operators' answer.

The chief justice outlined his recommendations for settling the crippling strike last Thursday after sitting seven days as mediator in the dispute.

During that time he studied the situation deeply, and tried to bring the parties to agreement.

Satisfied that no hope existed for a settlement by mutual agreement, Chief Justice Sloan called the two parties together for a final session; he outlined his own plan for settling the involved issues, then sent the two sides away to consider his proposals. He asked that they inform him by noon today whether his terms were acceptable.

The I.W.A. negotiation committee left the decision up to its membership, though the policy committee recommended acceptance.

SECRET POLL

Woodworkers voted on the issue in a secret-ballot poll taken Sunday at 19 different meetings throughout the province. In Victoria, woodworkers voted at the Club Sirocco. It was one of the biggest union gatherings ever held here.

An estimated 25,000 members participated in the B.C. vote, with the majority favoring acceptance of terms and a return to work.

Main point in the formula is that a 5½-cent-an-hour wage increase be provided for loggers and lumber workers in all classifications.

It also provides for three paid statutory holidays a year, and a reopening of wage talks in six months' time.

MAY SEE TREND

The chief justice pointed out that by the beginning of next year, business trends would be more clearly defined and it will be easier to determine how wages stand in the light of actual lumber sales.

In negotiations up until now, union and management sides were at complete odds over business prospects. One said business was to continue at a high level; the other maintained business was going to fall off badly.

At initial negotiation meetings in the spring, union negotiators demanded a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase, paid holidays, and an operator-financed health and welfare scheme.

Operators countered with a proposal that loggers' pay continue at the same level as last year and that certain classifications in mill jobs take a wage cut of 10 per cent.

U.K. Will Not Recognize Fuad As Sudan King

Magnificent Not on Way to Egypt Trouble

Compiled from C.P., A.P. Dispatches

While Egypt's new government re-established itself in Cairo today, promising a relentless country-wide cleanup of "bribery and corruption" in the wake of King Farouk's abdication, in London Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was telling the House of Commons that Britain refuses to recognize Egypt's infant king Ahmed Fuad as "King of Sudan."

In a statement on King Farouk's enforced abdication in favor of his six-month-old son, Eden emphasized that Britain's interest in the Egyptian crisis is to see 'that a stable and orderly administration" emerges.

He spoke shortly after Britain's ambassador to Egypt, Sir Ralph Stevenson, hurried back to Cairo by air carrying secret messages to the new regime.

'MAGGIE' LEAVES

Meanwhile Canada became embroiled in the Middle-East uneasiness. Reports from Malta Sunday that Canada's aircraft carrier Magnificent was heading from Istanbul for an "undisclosed destination" with British warships prompted speculation she was being dispatched to the Mediterranean's latest hot spot—Egypt. However, reports today indicated that the Magnificent was on her way to Malta in compliance with standing orders to keep out of trouble in foreign waters.

The Magnificent is due to leave the Mediterranean in late August after exercising with the British fleet. Whether her training will be cut short because the British fleet is tied up elsewhere is not know. The flat-top is commanded by Capt. K. L. Dyer, 36, of Grand Pre, N.S.

MEET WITH ARMED FORCE

The Sudan, a 1,000,000-square mile territory on Egypt's southern flank, has long been a trouble spot in British-Egyptian relations. Successive Cairo governments have sought to annex it. But Britain has refused to give up a share with Egypt in the rule of the land until the Sudanese have a chance to say—at the ballot box—what they think their future status should be.

In Cairo, Egypt's new military power, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey, promised he and Premier Aly Maher Pasha would "meet with armed force if necessary any attempt at demonstrations or disorders." Naguib warned, too, the army would tolerate no foreign interference.

Italy Claims Hydrogen Bomb

ROME, July 28 (AP)—The newspaper Giornale D'Italia says today an Italian scientist has exploded Italy's first hydrogen bomb.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

The athlete in our house has decided not to compete this year. Last season she was runner-up and with months of training behind her she looked good for the 1952 event. Still, she won't be in there when the starting signal goes.

There comes a time, she explains, when a person loses interest. Anyhow, she adds, a girl grows too old to keep going into supervised playground pie-eating contests. Tain't dignified. Furthermore, the pie isn't very good and a person has to watch her figure.

Stott

So we've quietly abandoned our championship dreams. Maybe, we say, it's just as well. But we can't forget the amount of pie that's disappeared in the course of training. Still, there are compensations. Unless a person is going after a championship and has to increase her capacities as she gets ready for it, one piece of pie at dinner ought to be enough. We'll probably save in the long run.

We're bearing up. It was only a district title and we've got our eyes fixed on something bigger. We're going in for the Olympics—when they change them around a bit.

So Long as We Win

We've studied the thing out and we have an angle. It seems the U.S. men and the Australian girls are too far up in track and field to do much about that. The Russians seem to be the top of the heap in gymnastics, and the Zatopeks, husband and wife, sort of dominate their sports. Weight-lifting is out. Boxing and wrestling don't appeal. Yachting would be good, but we haven't got a yacht. We don't go for the equestrian events, and even basketball is getting too competitive. As for hockey, why Canada already wins that, so why cut in?

We're hoping to have a few indigenous sports introduced into the program. We're hoping to get skipping-the-stone-over-the-lake formally recognized. Up at the summer place we spend days each year perfecting our technique in that event.

We're not saying much about it. We don't want the other nations to get wise. But by 1956 we ought to have some of the best skipping-the-stone-over-the-lakers in the world. Mostly we work out early in the morning, while the mist's still on the water. It makes it a little difficult to see how far we skip 'em, but we have an idea. Last week, at an early practice, we shied a few over the surface and the campers on the island a quarter of a mile away started yelling about people throwing rocks at them.

If we can get the F.I.N.A., or whatever they call the old fossils, to take the event up, it looks as if Canada's prestige is going to rise again.

Barefoot-Stubble-Jump

Then out in the hayfield, some of the other members of the family are practicing the barefoot-stubble-jump. One of them stepped on a thistle the other day and went up so high we're thinking of putting him in the pole vault.

Then we're trying to get the older folks into the Games, too. We're getting the tobacco chewers together and working out a contest for the hot pot-bellied stove shooters. Just so's the baseball folk won't crowd us, it won't be an accuracy test. We'll rig it so the only thing that counts is the number of bounces once the stuff has hit the hot stove lid. We're not too keen on the event, though. The way the old boys have been performing in their practices, it looks as if the stove lid is too small a target.

What we want to do, of course, is give a Canadian flavor to these international sports—something different. Anybody can run or jump or swim. And the trouble is the other countries' entries run too fast, jump too high and far, and move too quickly through the water.

We're just a little worried about the committee in charge of the Games being stodgy about this project. Some folks think that the Games should be mainly concerned with track and field and swimming and that other contests should be side shows—outside the main tent.

That just plain reactionary and old fashioned. What we want is some variety—and gold medals. Give us the medals, we say, and we don't care what they're for. Leave us have skipping-the-stone-over-the-lake as an event, and we won't even feel badly about our athlete scratching from the district pie-eating contest.

Yugo-Canadians To Get Refund

Ambassador Blames 'Russian-Minded' For Seizure of Funds of Ex-Nationals

Money allegedly confiscated from Canadians of Yugoslav origin when they visited their homeland will be returned in full.

Dr. Rajko Djermanovic, newly-appointed Yugoslavian ambassador to Canada, said here Saturday afternoon that these funds will be repaid as soon as possible.

He was referring to charges made by Canadians. He had an explanation.

Dr. Djermanovic blamed the disappearance of the money on auditors of a "Russian-minded Yugoslav organization" but termed the complainants "malcontents" who would have left any European country after experiencing the high standard of living in Canada.

Dr. Djermanovic, a lawyer and career diplomat for the past eight years, took up his appointment at Ottawa about five months ago and is making his visit to the west.

POTENTIAL ALLY

A pleasant, friendly man who says his country would team up with Canada in the event of a global war, his last diplomatic mission was in Brazil.

He described Yugoslavia as the last free nation in the Balkans.

"The rest are enslaved, satellite nations under Russia," he said.

Dr. Djermanovic said "our nation and Canada face a common foe."

CALLED COLLABORATOR

Talking of Mihailovic, highly publicized by the press of the western world as a partisan leader, the ambassador said he was tried and executed as a collaborator with Germans and Italians.

He said Mihailovic's trial was fair and impartial and no "kangaroo court." It was attended by 50 correspondents from other countries, he added.

Dr. Djermanovic praised Yugoslavia's five-year plan to get the war-ravaged country back on its feet. He added there had been 2,000,000 casualities out of a population of 6,000,000.

He was accompanied on his cross-Canada trip by Stavko Zecevic, first secretary of the Yugoslav embassy at Ottawa.

Protest New Wage Scale

PITTSBURGH, July 28 (AP).—Steelworkers stepped-up the pace of their back-to-work movement today but a few still grumbled over the wage settlement reached with big steel.

The undercurrent of dissatisfaction led from a 5,500-member local of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) at Jones and Laughlin's southside Pittsburgh plant.

James McLaughlin, local president, said his group voted during the week-end to return to work but under "protest." He will forward the protest to steelworkers president Philip Murray.

The principal complaint is that the wage increase is "not across the board," giving the same increase to all workers regardless of their type of work.

The basic agreement calls for a 12½-cent an hour increase to the lowest paid classification and increases that amount by a half-cent up through 25 classifications, with the highest classification getting 25 cents an hour.

Plunge Proves Fatal To Vancouver Porter

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP).—A 23-year-old porter who jumped through the window of his hotel room July 16 to escape flames died in hospital Sunday.

Charles Coleman Griffin, a C.P.R. employee, was found unconscious at the bottom of a light well after he made the 10-foot leap. He suffered abrasions and third-degree burns.

Police at the time learned that he had been smoking a cigarette and apparently set the bed clothing afire.

WOMAN FALLS 12,000 FEET FROM PLANE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 28 (UP)—U.S. Civil Aeronautics authorities sought today to determine why the door of a giant Stratocruiser popped open in flight and sent a 37-year-old American-born woman plunging 12,000 feet to death in the sea.

None of the other 26 persons aboard the Pan-American World Airways plane was hurt in the freak mishap in which Mrs. Marie Westbrook Capellaro of Rome, Italy, apparently was sucked from the pressurized cabin Sunday off southern Brazil.

Her husband, Emilio Capellaro, 41, a representative of the Italian Commercial Bank of Marseille, France, was sitting beside her at the time. He was unaware of what had happened to her until he noticed that her seat was empty.

The cabin interior was damaged. The back of the seat in which the victim sat, near a window and just in front of the door, was twisted and the fabric lining of the ceiling was torn.

Eisenhower Forces Predict Win Over Stevenson in November Vote

DENVER, July 28 (AP)—Back at his campaign headquarters after a 10-day vacation, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower stowed away his fishing gear and turned full attention today to pressing his bid for the Presidency.

First on the general's agenda was a conference with his newly-appointed political chief of staff, Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire. Eisenhower plans to spend most of the rest of the week conferring with other party leaders.

Sunday was largely devoted to discussion of campaign plans with his vice-presidential running mate, Seantor Richard M. Nixon of California.

Before the conference, Eisenhower and Nixon joined in predicting a Republican victory in November over the ticket the Democrats selected in Chicago last week—Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as the presidential candidate and Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama for vice-president.

Over the week-end, Eisenhower and Nixon both slapped at the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket as one committed to all-out defense of the Truman administration record.

Meanwhile, Governor Adlai Stevenson returns today to Springfield and a tumultous welcome from the Illinois capital, to prepare himself for the role of Democratic standard bearer in the 1952 presidential campaign.

He will pick up, but only temporarily, the reins of the job he had repeatedly said he wanted for four more years—governor of Illinois.

Then he will resign to devote himself to the role he "did not want"—candidate for the President of the United States.

The Democratic nominee spent the week-end conferring with party leaders on campaign plans. Among them was Senator Sparkman.

CUT — Britain will drastically cut tobacco purchases from Canada and the United States this year to less than half the normal amount, tobacco sources said today.

These sources connected with the tobacco import trade said the industry here has been warned that the government will release dollars to purchase only 9,000,000 pounds of the 1952 Canadian crop compared with 35,000,000 normally.

Imports from the U.S. will be reduced to 45,000,000 pounds from 100,000,000.

"Duplicate" has been touring lately—a show here and a fair there. She lays her regular one or two daily. Now and then she drops three in a day just to keep her publicity alive.

MINOR — In Munsan United Nations and Communist staff officers today discussed minor wording differences in the Korean armistice document but did nothing toward solving the deadlock on prisoner exchange.

Prisoner exchange has bogged the plenary sessions, now recessed until Aug 3.

The staff officers were in almost complete agreement on the first 50 paragraphs of the proposed armistice agreement.

ANTIDOTE — In Helsinki the Duke of Edinburgh was going strong today on a round of social affairs almost as exhausting as some of the Olympic events.

The Duke mingled and chatted today with guests at a British legation reception attended by Commonwealth officials and athletes and officers and men of the British cruiser Swiftsure.

He had taken part in dancing until nearly 2 a.m. at a Finnish-British Society ball here after spending last evening with Commonwealth Olympic athletes in their village.

British athletes, disappointed at their failure so far to win any Olympic championships, said they are sure the Duke deliberately set out to cheer them up—and succeeded.

The Duke served himself at a cafeteria counter in the village and exchanged Olympic talk and banter with the athletes.

WAR — Torrential rains beat down on already soaked and muddy Korean battle lines today and virtually halted ground and air fighting for the third straight day.

Each side sent out only small patrols across the 155-mile battlefront. Clashes were few and brief.

The steady downpour appeared to be the long overdue start of the Korean rainy season.

Five and one-half inches of rain have fallen in the Old Baldy and T-Bone Hill areas, the two trouble spots on the western front, since Friday. Chinese troops hold the crest of Old Baldy and the upper section of T-Bone.

Two Mill Workers Drown, Women Safe

OCEAN FALLS, B.C., July 28 (CP)—Two mill workers were drowned Saturday when they were swept from the side of their overturned boat into the choppy waters of Fisher Channel, five miles south of here.

Three women who were with the men were saved by a passing fishboat.

Kasti J. Ayani and Francis Henry Smith, both employees of Pacific Mills Ltd., set out from Ocean Falls in their small boat about 11 a.m., police said. With them were Mrs. Stenislava Dayeni, her 11-year-old daughter, Olga, and Olga's girl friend, Michellena Boillat.

The waves in the channel were "at least 10 feet high," police said.

The women had on life preservers and when the boat was swamped and overturned were able to hold onto the side. The men, however, became tired and slipped off. No trace has yet been found of their bodies.

The women were picked up 2½ hours later by John Hans and Wilfred Tallio, who were on their way to Ocean Falls in their fishboat from Rivers Inlet.

Hans lowered a dinghy and picked up the exhausted women. While taking them onto the fishboat, Grant Tallio, Wilfred's 10-year-old son, had his leg crushed between the two boats.

He is in hospital here in "good" condition.

British Steel Back to Owners

Government to Return Industry To Private Ownership Under Controls

LONDON, July 28 (Reuters)—The government today disclosed plans to restore the iron and steel industry to private ownership, but at the same time to retain a measure of state control over its operations.

The industry was transferred to public ownership by the Labor government in 1951. One of the Conservatives' election pledges was that it would be denationalized.

A bill to effect this pledge will be introduced in Parliament next fall. In an official preview of its proposals, the government said it will set up an iron and steel board to supervise the industry.

One of the board's most important tasks will be to supervise capital development. It could veto any projects which it thought would not benefit the industry as a whole. At the same time, the government could assist schemes for which private capital was lacking.

The bill will dissolve the state iron and steel corporation set up by the Socialists and turn over the securities of nationalized companies to a holding and realization agency.

This agency will arrange for the return of state-owned companies to private ownership. The transfer of securities may take some years, but wherever possible the applications of former shareholders will be given priority.

Laboratory tests have revealed that rust-diseased plants, preferred as a diet by certain insects and snails, contain up to 20 times more vitamin B-complex pantothenic acid than normal leaves.

U.K. Turns Down Germ Warfare Probe Suggestion

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Britain today turned down a suggestion that India be asked to appoint an impartial commission to investigate Communist charges of germ warfare.

Selwyn Lloyd, Minister of State, told the House of Commons the government feels it would not be suitable for them to make the suggestion in view of the propagandist nature of the Communist allegations.

The Chinese Communists have already rejected an offer by the international committee of the Red Cross to investigate.

'GOD IS A SQUARE SHOOTER'

Father Kills Wife, Four Tots

BRIDGEPORT, Wash., July 28 (AP)—A 27-year-old father who said his minister told him "God is a square shooter," killed his wife and four small children Sunday as the family was preparing to leave for church.

Police said Matthias Swearson was arrested a short time later, bleeding from a self-inflicted bullet wound and knife slashings and naked from the waist up. He was driving his station wagon and on his way to church.

Police said Swearson told them: "The minister said God is a square shooter."

The bodies of two of the children—Kay, 4, and Peggy, 3—were found in the yard of the modest family home about four miles from the outskirts of this small north central Washington community.

They apparently had been slain inside and their bodies thrown out the door. Nearby was the body of the family dog, its throat slashed.

The body of Kren, 2, was found in the living room. The body of Swearson's wife, Joyce, 25, was found on the bedroom floor near the crib of six-months-old Matthias, who also was slain.

Some of the victims' throats had been slashed. Some had been shot with a .22 rifle.

Police said the living room showed signs of a wild struggle. Blood was spattered everywhere.

Mrs. Swearson was a Sunday school teacher at the Methodist church here. Swearson attended the church for the first time last Sunday—for the baptism of two of his children.

He told police:

"The Lord told me to take their lives and that I would join them later. I am not afraid any more."

In his attempt to take his own life, Swearson shot himself in the head, slashed his throat and his chest. All the wounds were superficial.

GILMOUR BOA 19TH IN OLYMPIC RIFLE SHOOT

HELSINKI, July 28 (CP)—Canada's Gilmour Boa finished 19th in the free-rifle competition of the Olympic Games Sunday with a creditable score of 1,053.

The crown was won by Anatoli Bogdanov, 22-year-old metal worker from Moscow, whose Olympic record score was only a point outside the world mark. Bogdanov tallied 1,123, breaking the Olympic mark of 1,120 points and just falling short of the world mark of 1,124 set by an Estonian in 1937.

Second was Switzerland's Robert Burchler, a Zurich armorer and perennial runner-up in international competition with 1,120.

The High Crime of Surplus

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY PRESS is having another field day at the expense of Mr. Abbott because he has committed the financial crime of another revenue surplus in the first two months of the present fiscal year.

Mr. Abbott budgeted for no surplus this year. He thought that his huge expenditures—almost half of them for defense—would use up practically every dollar he could collect from existing tax rates. Yet in two months he found himself in the black by roughly a quarter of a billion dollars.

Projected over 12 months, this rate of expenditure and collection would pile up a gigantic surplus by next March 31. On this assumption Conservative papers—the Vancouver Province rising into a white-hot state of euphoria—are condemning the government for over-taxation and, as The Province remarks in a chaste phrase, for making suckers out of the Canadian people.

In the first place, it is not safe to project the experience of two months over an entire year. Collections from taxes are usually high at the first part of a fiscal year and drop later. Expenditures work on an opposite cycle, mounting from the first months to the peak of the last.

Moreover, the government has fallen into the bad habit of failing to include all likely expenditures in its budget. It then brings in supplementary estimates the following year to cover the unbudgeted items of the year before. When these extra costs finally have to be paid they will cut pretty deeply into the apparent surplus of this year, if any, just as they did last spring, thus making the opposition critics look rather foolish.

However, the government may well accumulate a substantial surplus for another reason altogether—simply because it may be unable physically to spend all its military appropriations. Last year it spent much less on defense than Parliament had authorized it to spend. It could not make or buy from other countries the weapons it desired. A steel shortage may increase this difficulty in the current year.

Conceivably, therefore, the government could reduce its defense budget without physically reducing the real pace of re-armament, but it should not cut re-armament lower than the maximum level which the economy can physically support, as Mr. Pearson said the other day. For if it goes beyond that point and other countries follow the same policy the whole N.A.T.O. defense program soon will collapse.

It may be that with a short-fall in defense spending and perhaps with higher revenues than expected the government, with a surplus next March 31, could afford a reduction in taxes, which no doubt it desires even more than the taxpayers before an election. No one in his senses enjoys the present level of taxes but, reading the Conservative papers, one might imagine that the money saved by the government so far in its annual operations has been lost, thrown into the sea or spent on blondes. In fact, it has gone to reduce the national debt, the mortgage on our collective house and is the best possible kind of saving for every Canadian.

The government need not apologize for a heavy reduction in debt since the war and only in Canada is it condemned for this policy. In other countries, especially in the United States, the Canadian government is constantly upheld as a glittering example of good management and the proof of that management is to be found in the value of the Canadian dollar. The strongest currency in the world does not come out of a weak government. The fastest-growing country cannot attribute all its growth and prosperity, of course, to the government but if we had suffered unsound government since the war—especially if we had suffered a Conservative policy of trade restriction—the story would have been very different.

On the whole, with an election ahead of it, the government is less likely to maintain unnecessary taxes than to cut rates too much for political reasons. If that happens it will be condemned for the resulting deficit at a time when making hay while the sun shines, we should be reducing our oppressive war debt in preparation for a rainy day later on.

The New American Era

SINCE THE DAYS WHEN THE FIRST white settlers began to plunder a fabulously rich continent the problem of the United States has never been to obtain raw materials but to process and distribute them. The problem of processing them has been largely solved. The problem of distributing them is well on the way to solution. But the new problem of finding enough materials has only appeared and has hardly been considered.

Eighteen months ago President Truman asked his materials policy commission to study the needs of the United States for materials and to estimate, if possible, how much of them would be required and where they would come from 25 years hence.

The report of the commission, in 800 pages, has just been released. Like most important documents, it is not likely to receive wide attention. Nevertheless, hidden within its laborious pages are some facts to give all America pause. In a word, the commission finds that, at its present rate of use, the United States will be short, not long hence, of many things that it has possessed in abundance up to now.

Thus where it is now a large exporter of certain materials the United States will soon be an importer. Already, incredibly enough, it is large importer as well as an exporter of oil. A generation from now it will need much more aluminum, nickel, rubber, copper and many other things than it can possibly produce. It may also be a net importer of foodstuffs to feed its growing population.

It was said, in the last years of the nineteenth century, that the United States had entered a new era with the closing of the last frontier. It will enter still another era when the exploited frontiers of older times are unable to produce enough of the raw stuff of industry. Then the United States either must import largely from abroad or use less itself. It cannot maintain its present living standard, much less the higher standard which it desires and expects, without a huge foreign trade.

The future need of the United States for many things that it cannot produce adequately itself will be the opportunity of other nations. By selling in the United States market they can earn dollars and use them to buy American goods. All participants in this sensible exchange will profit. Up to recent years, when the Roosevelt government finally managed to get American tariffs down, the simplest facts of economics—known as the division of labor—were usually denied in American policy. The United States insisted on selling more than it bought and thus created the dollar shortage of foreign nations. At the very moment when the figures show that the United States must increasingly buy foreign goods and materials to maintain itself there are still powerful influences at work to maintain a so-called "favorable" balance of trade, to keep out foreign imports, to impoverish the world and, in the end, to impoverish the United States.

The protectionists who have usually argued on the assumption that the United States had virtually everything it needed inside its own borders will now be compelled to see that this is no longer true, or soon will not be. Like Britain before it, the United States must learn to trade on an expanding scale, not to help others for humanitarian motives, but simply to support itself. If the United States learns this lesson and enforces an appropriate trading policy the long-standing and stubborn dollar problem will be solved and a new era of abundances will open to the world at large.

The Compact Theory

THE WHOLE MATTER WAS LARGELY lost in the rush of Ottawa's midsummer but before Parliament prorogued the Conservative party raised a vital issue in Canadian affairs. It revived the "compact theory" of Confederation.

According to this theory, Confederation is merely a compact between the component and sovereign provinces. They have agreed to set up a central legislature on certain terms and the central legislature can never change those terms without provincial consent. The compact is unalterable except by unanimous consent of all concerned. Thus any single province can veto any change in these constitutional arrangements.

Mr. Drew revived the compact theory in the case of redistribution. He held that Parliament could not alter the British North America Act and thus redistribute electoral constituencies without consulting the provinces and securing their consent.

The redistribution amendment of the national constitution was the first ever effected by the Canadian Parliament alone. Not until 1949 did Canada achieve the legal status of a nation able to deal with its own constitution. Previously all constitutional amendments were made by the British Parliament through changes in the British North America Act. Now the Canadian Parliament is entitled to change the constitution as it pleases, but only in purely federal matters. It cannot change the constitution as it affects the powers of a province.

For several years the federal and provincial governments have been trying to work out a process by which all constitutional changes can be made within Canada and without reference to the British Parliament. So far they have been unable to agree on the mechanics of this process, though all agree that the constitution should be brought wholly within this nation.

Meanwhile Parliament has altered the constitution in order to change, not very greatly, the electoral map of Canada. Mr. Drew says the provinces must be consulted. If they must be consulted about this they must be consulted about everything. The power of Parliament to alter the constitution in federal matters becomes meaningless. The constitution becomes subject to the unilateral veto of a single province, Prince Edward Island, for example, being able to thwart the will of the entire country. And if this compact theory is followed, as Mr. Drew is following it, then Canada becomes no longer a nation but a congeries of squabbling principalities, a Balkan peninsula.

Mr. Drew hopes that the compact theory, if weak constitutionally, will be strong politically. It is designed to appeal to the intransigent elements of Quebec, to men like Premier Duplessis, whose stock in trade is opposition to a central government of any party.

Mr. St. Laurent doubtless knows that Mr. Drew can make votes in Quebec by exploiting provincial autonomy beyond all reason, but Mr. St. Laurent refuses to compromise on an issue politically difficult, especially for him. As one of our greatest constitutionalists he knows where the compact theory leads. As prime minister he is putting the nation ahead of local votes.

BOB RUARK SAYS

It's So Easy Not to Go

NEW YORK—Dear diary, I thought you might like to reflect the doings of a guy who didn't go to the convention this time, because not going was all so simple.

Ruark

You must know that Tuesday I lunched with a Roosevelt. This comprises my counterattack against F. D. Jr. This Roosevelt is named George, and he lives in Hawaii when you can pin him down at all. If Hawaii ever gets statehood George may be heard from. He has a loud voice.

SPENT a lot of time in front of the television. Dear D. Thought the Giants when they beat the Cardinals looked real tight, and wondered what a man like Stanky thinks about later when he puts himself in to pinch-hit and pops up.

Spent considerable time in the zoo, admiring the animals. They seem so well-behaved when contrasted to people. The dromedary is moulting, or whatever happens to camels. Must write humane society about more turf for the animals to pace on. Is this One World or ain't it the animals shouldn't have enough grass?

WENT to the movies, a British thing called "Outcast of the Islands." Joseph Conrad doesn't write any better for the films than he wrote for the readers, and when Somerset Maugham referred to him as "that ponderous Pole," he was so very, very right.

Had lunch with a lady who says in her first reincarnation she wants to be Toots Shor's dog. She figures that even in this economy a dog owned by Toots would not go hungry. Seemed logical at the time.

Turned on the television again and saw Betty Furness. I think she will make a very nice Vice-President indeed, being so pretty and handy about the kitchen. Or was that Mrs. Roosevelt? It's been so hot here lately I can't tell one poodle cut from another.

SPENT Wednesday in meditation. Discovered that I have ten toes and ten fingers. Is this a common occurrence?

Got bill from hotel in Chicago. Am pleased to know I own a hotel, but was unaware at the time that I was buying it.

Listened to some more television. Must make note to have the Democrats rehearse "Happy Days Are Here Again," before they attempt to instill confidence in the voters by singing it. The man telling the people to sing loud made more noise than the singers.

READ all the learned comments about the convention. Unable make heads or tails out of most of it, an experience I imagine we have all shared lately. Some talk of another war between the States current, and unable to decide on which side loyalty rests. Ah got hot Suth'n blood but ah lives up No'th.

Worried some about Perle Mesta's future, and speculated idly about a husband for our emissary to Luxembourg. If she got married again would they have to call him Mistah Mesta?

Counted money in piggy bank. Not enough to run away on, yet, but it's growing, and don't nobody crowd me.

Answered several queries as to whether it is hot enough for me. Answered affirmatively.

CONTEMPLATED life on Thursday. Have reached point where consider it is inevitable unless you would rather be dead. Also contemplated unpaid taxes, and wonder if first decision may not be erroneous.

Went to the zoo again. The half-lion, half-tiger looks rather silly with a bobbed tail. Am convinced Republicans chose wrong animal when they picked elephant as symbol. Donkey fits Democrats rather well.

Was kicked in shin by small child, name unknown.

Wrote mash note to Betty Furness. So glad she is to be our next President. First time a woman ever made it.

SAW George Roosevelt again. Don't think he's got enough jaw for the job. Wrong side of the family, anyhow.

Counted money in piggy bank again. Enough now. Ran away, and have not been heard from since.

That Not So Jolly Sixpence

Montreal Star

NOT being ourselves very good at arithmetic we have been puzzling over a short paragraph in the current number of the Canadian Banker which sets forth what was apparently the terms on which a 16-year-old youth was hired by a bank in 1908:

"Of one thing you may be sure: it was not the salary that attracted Jones, because the annual stipend at that time was a princely $200, which, in terms of a month's pay, was $16.66. Admittedly, $16.66 would buy a great deal more in 1908 than in 1952; nevertheless, $4 per week was the minimum cost of board even in those days, which left but a small remainder for luxuries."

If board cost $4 a week, this meant that the young man spent $16 out of his $16.66 on food and shelter for 28 days out of each month. This left him "a small remainder for luxuries" only in the month of February each year (provided it wasn't leap year). During the other 11 months he had apparently to feed himself for two or three days each month out of that "small remainder for luxuries."—the sum of 66 cents.

The only appropriate comment seems to be that February must have been the bank clerk's month for high jinks. Provided, of course, that he never had to buy himself any boots or clothes or stamps to put on letters asking his father for a (naturally) unsecured loan.

"HOME, SWEET HOME"

Reading in the Saturday Times of the writer of "Home, Sweet Home"—John Howard Payne—and having recently read another account sent to a London magazine about this same writer, could we now hear something of the Englishman, Henry R. Bishop, who wrote the music? In both accounts he is not mentioned.

"OLD SONGS."

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT

There is no constitutional authority for any minority political party to form a government, or for an outgoing premier to advise the crown to call upon a leader of a minority group to form a government from its own members alone. Such action would be a negation of democracy, the principle of rule by the majority vote.

If the premier is not able, conscientiously, to recommend a party leader who has some chance of obtaining an agreement to coalesce in the formation of a coalition government with a working majority in the House, then the crown, in this case the lieutenant-governor, exercising his prerogative, may consult the leader of any other party to learn if he is able and willing to gain enough support from other groups to form a government having a working majority in the House. If no political leader is able to get a coalition together, then the crown will ask the retiring premier to call another election.

MORE ON SCHOOLS

I would refer Mr. W. G. Curran to Toronto's "The Sentinel," a semi-monthly paper, of June 5, 1952, in which the public school position in the B.C. controversy has been well put in a brief by Professor George A. Cornish of Toronto.

In it he answers conclusively the R.C. claims and establishes the justice of the refusal of the B.C. government and the other parties to grant them. Professor Cornish is the secretary of the Inter-Church Committee. In the two full pages he gives a full expose of the public school system and that of the Roman Catholic.

One of the paragraphs of Professor A. Cornish has this to say: "If Roman Catholics are to be given the right to segregate their children at the expense of the State, then in the name of democracy so have every other denomination and sect and every other group with a community of ideas that they wish to propagate. Not only would there be a numerous variety of schools, but in each school there would have to be a variety of courses for each grade. Merely to state the results indicates that this literal interpretation is absurd. It surely means that a practical system of education shall be organized which will satisfy the majority of the voters or parents, and that is exactly what has been done in British Columbia. If the system does not meet the wishes of the great majority of the voters it can always be changed in a democratic way. But one thing is certain, that the Roman Catholic interpretation cannot be the right one or it would lead to chaos. And the demand that their wishes should be met and not those of Jehovah's Witnesses and Communists is arrogant in the extreme. If any group of parents is dissatisfied with the provincial system they have the right to withdraw their children from the public school and to establish a school to their liking. But surely they have no more right to call on the state for support, than has a business man who is dissatisfied with the fire protection and introduces one of his own, or a man who is dissatisfied with the public library and establishes a private one to meet his needs."

BRITAIN BEFORE ROME

In view of all the printed history and scholastic textbooks which say that the early Britons were barbarians and painted savages it must be more than a little disconcerting to our boards of education and their faculties to learn that auhentic history (amply suported by many acknowledged authorities, and especially the science of archaeology with its artifacts) provide irrefutable proof that the Britons were a highly civilized race at least 1,500 years before Rome was even built. From this it would seem that the "skin-clad savage" theory is some heavy and effective mesmeric touch of foreign taint copied by Hitler, Stalin, et al that the bigger the lie and the oftener it is repeated the more it is believed.

Following are a few facs: Hu Gadran, a contemporary of the Patriarch Abraham, established the Welsh Triads of the Druidical Order, which order numbered 40 chief seats of education in Britain. The total enrollment, at times, amounted to 60,000 of the youth and nobility of Britain and Gaul. The full course required some 20 years to master, and included all the highest subjects of the arts and sciences—philosophy, mathematics, geometry, astronomy, medicine, jurisprudence, poetry and oratory. Such reliable authorities as Strabo, Cicero, Pliny, Tacitus agree in this, and even Caesar himself concurs.

Archaeology proves a successful trepanning operation on human skulls in 1500 B.C.

Mrs. Pankhurst and her suffragettes were 2,500 years behind the times. In those days the female, on her marriage, was entitled to vote. (Druid Triad.)

Sir Flinders Petrie, world renowned archaeologist, states: "We find each year at Gaza gold work from Ireland dated from 2300 B.C. onward." Specimens of these are in the British museum.

Tin used in the construction of Solomon's Temple came from Cornwall.

In the matter of religion the Trinity in Unity was worshipped while Rome was emphatically pagan, worshipping a multitude of gods.

The Village

Windsor Star

The Archbishop of York has expressed concern at the disappearance of "village life" from England. The village is losing its distinctive characteristics and is being permeated by the industrial and commercial spirit of larger urban centres.

The same is occurring on this continent, because of modern communications. This has an inevitable effect on their way of life—on their way of thinking.

None suggests villages should remain isolated. But villages and towns have been peopled by solid citizens, not apt to be victims of fads and fancies, be these social, economic or political.

They Think They'll Win

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Chicago

PERHAPS this is a good time to note an extremely significant fact. The Democrats think they will win this election.

Stewart

In a queer way, the Democratic atmosphere this time is reminiscent of the Republican atmosphere in 1948. There is the same assurance, the same bland disregard of the common mischance and misfortunes of politics. There is also the same tendency, one must add, to underrate the opposition.

In 1948, the Republicans thought any candidate could lick Truman, and the great argument was about which candidate would receive the assignment. In the same fashion among the Democrats here in Chicago in 1952, only a very few wise and seasoned operators seem to be able to bear in mind the great popular strength and potent personality of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The rest of these Democrats remember only that they over-estimated the General's campaigning magic in the days before Abilene. They now appear to count on him to spend the entire election campaign with his foot in his mouth. In the humble opinion of these reporters, this is a mood and these are expectations dangerous to any party.

None the less, the Democratic confidence of victory has greatly helped so far. It is the real explanation of the rather successful compromise of the civil rights issue which has been arranged.

Before the convention opened, there was far more bitterness and far more belligerency, both in North and South, than there was four years ago.

When they all got together here, however, they found that they were bound together by unexpectedly strong ties of common interest. If they had thought the election was going to go against them both sides would have kept at each others' throats. The temptation to indulge their real feelings would have been too strong. Instead, with all the fruits of victory piled up, as it were upon the table in the Platform Committeeroom, both sides restrained their emotions lest the hoped-for feast be snatched away from them.

Joseph

The prospect of relative Democratic unity unquestionably improves the Democratic chance of victory. To this, any honest observer who has attended both the great conventions must add one further point. Although the Democratic party has grown pretty old and pretty raddled in 20 years of office, it has still managed to look more vigorous, at least on the surface, than the Republican party.

Certainly this is mainly because the old guardsmen controlled the Republican arrangements. With almost no exceptions, the old guard orators struck only three notes—nostalgia for the past, hatred of the present, and uneasy fear of the future.

The Democrats do not suffer from any of the Republican neuroses, deep as their sectional division undoubtedly is. These people here are an extraordinary mixture and cross-section. But almost all of them appear to enjoy and approve the official Democratic boasting and optimism, which are as fake in their way as the venomous Republican partisanship and pessimism. Almost all of these Democrats, moreover, will fight hard and hopefully to elect their candidate.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"THEY tell me," said the Elevator Man, "a change is as good as a rest. But it seems to me it depends a lot on what you mean by a change and what it's good for. If you've been wearing out your arm muscles and then switch to your leg muscles and wear them out instead, I don't see that you're much ahead. Of course, that's all the slogan says—it's just 'as good' not necessarily better. But I still think it's hard to beat a rest when you want a rest. That's change enough for most of us, goodness knows. And if you're not going to get much of either of 'em anyway, I'd rather be short-rested than short-changed. Going up!

Tobin

"For some folks," said the Elevator Man, "it's quite a problem what to do with spare time. You remember the fellas who won a five-day week, and then used to come down and sit in front of the factory and stare at their feet on their off-day because they didn't know what else to do. Most of us know better than that, of course. You wouldn't catch us going down to the factory and doing that. We'd do it at home. But if machines are going to give us more leisure we'll have to train ourselves to stop being machines in our off-hours and become human beings. And human beings, you may remember, are those creatures that walk on two legs, have fingers and opposable thumbs, enjoy ingenuity in the use of fire and tools, and attained a high development of curiosity, imagination, memory and reasoning power that brought them out of the jungles and caves and gave them a head start on the rest of creation that has never been caught up—yet. What we want are some more of those human beings—old homo sapiens, thinking man—who led the parade out of the trees and rocks and put us where we are today. Because if old h.s. has shot his bolt and isn't going to go any further, there's lots of other creatures will be glad to take over his position—the fools. Like the fella who sat on the ant hill, we don't have any ants in our ancestry but may get 'em in our posterity. Lower main!

"Anyway," said the Elevator Man, "it's always nice to get back on the job. After all, a change is as good as a rest."

U.S. Planes Chase Strange Objects

WASHINGTON, July 28 (UP)—Jet planes capable of speeds of 600 miles an hour made a futile attempt to intercept mysterious glowing objects that streaked over the capital for the second consecutive week-end.

The air force, which always has maintained a skeptical attitude about "flying saucers," said today it was investigating the unidentified objects, described as "glowing white lights," that were spotted by radar and then visually by air force and commercial pilots Saturday night.

"We don't know what they are, but we are investigating," an air force spokesman said today.

"We have no concrete evidence that they are flying saucers. Conversely, we have no concrete evidence that they are not flying saucers."

The spokesman said the reports had been relayed to intelligence officers in the Pentagon and to the air force technical intelligence centre at Wright Patterson air force base, Dayton, O.—centre for the investigation of "flying saucer" reports.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Stringent Laboratory tests have now shown that an antiseptic called T.C.P., which is new to Canada, will check the fungus that causes Athlete's Foot, even when T.C.P. is diluted 100 times with water. This explains why T.C.P. used straight from the bottle, has such a rapid and positive action on Athlete's Foot. Simply dab on T.C.P. 2 to 4 times daily. It will help quickly to relieve irritation, dry up the exuding "blisters" between toes and help promote clean, rapid healing. This is just one of the many uses for this new 4-way-action antiseptic. T.C.P. with full directions enclosed is now available from all drug stores.

Little Winner of Biggest Prize Aloof, Yawns at Presentation

By DAVE STOCK

Walter Humphreys just wasn't interested.

Although the place was strange to him and crowded with others —some crying, some laughing and others just staring into space —Walter Humphreys took it in with one sweeping glance and paid no further heed.

His attitude was aloof—almost majestic. He did not fidget like so many that were close by.

Then someone spoke. The voice said "Walter Humphreys."

Everyone's eyes turned to look at him. What would he do now?

For a moment, Walter Humphreys did nothing. But then he yawned, looked up at his mommy and carelessly let the fluffy white toy in his hand fall to the floor.

No, very definitely Walter Humphreys wasn't interested.

He'd been picked the best baby from among 80 entered in Saturday's All-Sooke Day competition and was about to be presented with the coveted Times' silver trophy. He yawned.

"IN THE BAG"

Blonde, curly-headed, blue-eyed Walter Humphreys let his mother and father display the family pride.

His mother, Mrs. Edith Humphreys, was obviously delighted. And his father, Peter Humphreys, grinned broadly.

But brother John, a wise old fellow of 2½, like Walter himself, showed no emotion. John confided afterward that he saw no reason to get excited since he knew all along there wasn't a baby anywhere to beat his little brother.

The champion is 13½ months old. His father is an R.C.M.P. constable, regularly stationed at Sooke but now undergoing a routine training course at Fairmont Barracks, Vancouver.

It was really a happy occasion for dad. Home for the week-end, not only did he see his baby win high honors, but he was able to relax in civilian clothes and take in all the Sooke Day activities, leaving other constables to do the work and worry connected with sorting out the thousands of cars that jammed the district for the day.

Walter's selection as best baby in the contest was made by Dr. Andrew Gillespie, who admitted the job of picking 12 prize-winners from the record number of entries was a real task.

"Only one thing would be harder," the judge conceded. "That would be to pick the prettiest mother."

Herme Koolman, six-and-a-half-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adry Koolman, Saseenos, won top prize for the best Sooke baby in the show. His parents are new Canadians, having immigrated to this country only one year ago from Holland.

First prize in the division for babies under six months went to five-month-old Anne Elizabeth Leiper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leiper, of Saanich.

Mothers of the three top babies were presented with their prizes by Times' Publisher Stuart Keate.

Heading the list of other prize-winning entrants were twins, Jimmy and Phyllis Symmons, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Symmons, 3274 Albion Road, Saanich. The twins are eight and one-half months.

OTHER WINNERS

Other winners were Joseph Wayne Mills, six-month-old son of Mrs. N. Mills, 3211 Sooke Road, Luxton; William John Readshaw McDowell, four-month-old son of Mrs. Robert McDowell, 878 Esquimalt Road; Wilfred Charles Parsons, five-month-old son of Mrs. W. D. Parsons, Royal Oak; Peter Clowes, 11-month-old son of Mrs. Peter Clowes, Saseenos; Wendy Leigh Wilson, 14-month-old daughter of Mrs. Audrey Wilson, Sooke; Ardis Adèle, eight-and-a-half-month-old daughter of Mrs. Marion Roberts, Church Road, Sooke, and Philip Douglas Mylrea, 11-month-old son of Mrs. Katheline Mylrea, Cordova Bay.

The baby show was organized by Mrs. Gordon Nixon.

Pretty Babies Centre of Attention at Big Sooke Show

Interest in the All-Sooke Day baby competition reached an all-time high Saturday when 80 children from rural areas of Vancouver Island were entered in annual contest. Entry list was largest ever in 16-year history and provided Dr. Andrew Gillespie, who was judge, with a really hard task. Grand champion and winner of Times' Trophy was 13½-month-old Walter Humphreys, in picture left, with his happy mother, Mrs. Edith Humphreys, a graduate nurse. Herma Koolman, 6½ months, shown with his mother, Mrs. Gezina Koolman, centre, was awarded prize as best Sooke baby. Mr. and Mrs. Koolman, who live at Saseenos, came to Canada one year ago from Holland. Best baby under six months of age was darked-eyed Anne Elizabeth Leiper, five months, shown at right with her mother, Mrs. Lucy Leiper of Saanich. Nine other prizes were awarded. (Times photos.)

Ton of Salmon Helps Feed Sooke's Hungry Hundreds

The Sooke Community Association, sponsoring group behind the annual All-Sooke Day Celebration, can go into the catering business anytime it wants to.

That was the almost unanimous opinion of 10,000 people who attended the gala event on Sooke Flats Saturday and tasted the specially prepared barbecued salmon and ground-baked beef.

The crowd cleaned up nearly a ton of salmon and about a quarter of a ton of beef.

The fish—caught in Sooke traps—were donated by J. H. Todd and Sons Ltd. They averaged 30 pounds each.

There were 85 red springs all together. And the job of barbecuing them alongside smoking, green alder logs was capably supervised by Jim Forrest and Andrew Robilliard.

The Sooke-style beef was served after having been buried in red-hot charcoal embers for nearly a whole day. This operation, patterned after old Indian methods of cooking, was under the careful watch of Frank Rumsby.

Units of the R.C.N. Pacific Command manoeuvred with two U.S. destroyers off Dallas Road Saturday afternoon as Navy Day celebrations neared their climax. Ships fought off a simulated air attack, launched a trio of "frog-men" for a beachhead assault, and later took civilians on short cruises in Juan de Fuca Strait.

Navy Wins New Friends, Warm Tributes

More than 2,000 officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy played host to unestimable thousands of civilians in Victoria on Navy Day, Saturday.

In a 12-hour program touching on every branch of navy activity, they showed the city and visitors from all parts of Canda and the United States how Canada's modern navy operates.

The chief result of months of planning was a day of entertainment beneath a brilliant sun, but an indirect outcome was a quickened interest in navy careers.

The recruiting office of H.M.C.S. Malahat this morning reported a noticeable increase in the number of enquiries from prospective wearers of navy blue.

The Navy showed to its best advantage Saturday, in a program carried out with clock-work precision. There were no time-lags in the long list of events at Beacon Hill Park.

Two of the Saturday afternoon highlights were the precision drill, without spoken command, of 54 members of H.M.C.S. Naden ship's company, and the thrilling counter-marching of Naden's band with that of the U.N.T.D. division.

The program extended seaward, too, where units of R.C.N.'s Pacific Command fought a mock aerial battle, aided by two U.S. destroyers. Later 700 civilians were taken for sea voyages in Beacon Hill, Antigonish and Sault Ste. Marie.

The day closed with a solemn and colorful sunset ceremony.

Spectators agreed it was the most spectacular peacetime naval display ever seen on this coast.

A General Motors Value

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life.

A good part of the time they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion manoeuvres—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straight-away driving.

And—just for good measure—this 1952 ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and to top it all, the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

*Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER only.

Eva Peron Idol Of Poor People

Argentine President's Wife Was Powerful Figure in Politics

By The Associated Press

Dynamic, vivacious Eva Peron, born May 7, 1922, wife of the president of Argentina, who died Saturday night, was the most powerful woman politically in the western hemisphere.

Though she held no government post, she was as much a figure in the government as her husband, Juan Domingo Peron, whose regime in South America's richest country was a man and wife affair.

EVA PERON

The First Lady maintained her office in the Ministry of Labor and guided labor policies. She headed the multi-million dollar Social Aid Foundation that controlled many hospitals and low-cost government housing. It also ran various welfare institutions and distributed aid direct to individuals in the form of clothing, furniture, medicine and cash.

Her charity once extended to the United States, causing surprise mingled with embarrassment. The Children's Aid Society in Washington had sent a letter to an Argentine embassy attache soliciting a small gift. This was forwarded by him to the Social Aid Foundation. The result was a donation of clothing to care for 600 needy Washington children.

GIFT ACCEPTED

There was some apprehension as to what use Russia might make of the matter, in view of the Soviet propaganda line that Americans lived in pretty miserable circumstances as compared with Russians. But the gift finally was accepted with thanks.

Among other things, the Social Aid Foundation operated a clothing factory. In 1951, Mrs. Peron, decked out in pink and serenaded by martial airs, opened a chain of low-priced grocery stores whose advertising set forth: "One more achievement in favor of social justice."

To thousands of needy, she was the Lady Bountiful, the Lady of Hope. To her enemies—and she had her share—Mrs. Peron was an opportunist, a woman who used the welfare organization as a political weapon through the distribution of vast sums of money.

The Foundation issued no statements of its income and expenditures.

Mrs. Peron's activities were many and varied. Her hours were long. She held numerous conferences with high and low, with diplomats and ragged poor. She made speeches at political rallies, speaking in an animated, rapid voice. She controlled several newspapers.

It was the president's wife who campaigned successfully to give Argentine women the right to vote and hold office.

VICE-PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

In the summer of 1951 the government-backed General Confederation of Labor (C.G.T.), the Peronista party and the Peronista Women's party staged a demonstration by 250,000 persons in downtown Buenos Aires at which speakers demanded that Peron and his wife "lead Argentina forever." There were shouts of "Peron-Peron."

The superior council of the Peronista party proclaimed them candidates for president and vice-president for a six-year term beginning in 1952.

Most normal business activities were suspended during the demonstration. The C.G.T. had ordered all its members—it claimed there were 5,000,000 of these—off their jobs to attend the rally. Mrs. Peron's Social Aid Foundation co-operated with the labor organization in catering to the provincial visitors who poured into the city on free fares provided by the government-owned railways.

WITHDREW AS CANDIDATE

It was the opposition contention that Mrs. Peron was not eligible for the vice-presidency for two reasons:

(1) The Argentine constitution provided that candidates for president and vice-president must be at least 30 years old, and (2) it required candidates to have exercised their citizenship right for 10 years to be eligible. Mrs. Peron, along with all Argentine women, had gotten the right to vote only two years previously.

Little publicity had been given to Mrs. Peron's age. The Argentine Who's Who, with information presumably obtained from givernment sources, gave her birth date as May 7, 1922. Some other sources placed it three years earlier.

Several days after her selection as a vice-presidential candidate, Mrs. Peron tearfully told Argentina in a broadcast that she would not seek the office.

The president's blonde, five-foot-two-inch wife, speaking from the presidential residence, said she had reached an "irrevocable decision to renounce the high honor." She sobbed over the nationwide radio as she said:

"I only want history to say of me that beside Peron there was a woman who took to him the people's problems. The people have called me Evita (Little Eva). That is my pride because I have won the heart of the workers. . . .

"I will not be the running mate of Peron but I will continue to accompany him, and with him, will accompany the people. I will continue to be, with the CGT, a bridge between the people and Peron."

Rust Damage Threatening Wheat Crop

5,000,000 Acres May Be Affected

WINNIPEG, July 27 (CP) —A virulent new wheat rust race is threatening a bumper grain crop in the Canadian west.

In two weeks farmers in Saskatchewan and western Manitoba will know the extent of damage. An estimated 4,000,000-5,000,000 acres of wheat and barley may be affected.

It all depends on the weather. Authorities say a two-week period of hot, sunny weather with warm winds will greatly reduce the menace.

Under attack is a lush Saskatchewan crop that has never been short of moisture during the growing season. If the rust does not hit, it could be a bumper crop.

DETECTED IN 1946

The Manitoba crop was planted much earlier, and officials say early cut crops should escape with little or no damage.

Alberta is rarely attacked. Prevalent winds from the north and northwest act as a barrier to the entry of rust spores.

The menace is Race 15B — a stem rust first noticed in Pennsylvania in 1938 and first found in Manitoba at Killarney in 1946. It is scattered through the Red River Valley in a belt roughly northwest from Winnipeg, to Saskatoon and beyond.

Most heavily hit is Durham wheat in the Carlyle area of southeastern Saskatchewan. Infection there is reported hitting 100 per cent.

Race 15B has been found on Thatcher, Renown, Regent and Redman wheat varieties—strains developed through years of research, resistant to other types of rust. But 15B attacks all.

Dr. R. F. Peterson of the federal Rust Research Laboratory here said fate of fields due for late harvesting is dependent entirely on the wheat. He described as pure speculation estimates that some rust damage in southeastern Saskatchewan might run from 25 to 50 per cent of acreage.

Paving Work Starts on Alaska Road

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., July 28 (BUP)—Paving of the strategic Alaska highway was underway today following a ceremony in which a bottle of California oil was poured into the first load of asphalt spread on the 1,500-mile, all-gravel road.

General Construction Company started paving the first mile at "Mile One" of the war-inspired northern artery that starts here and ends at Fairbanks, Alaska.

The bottle of California oil was pumped from a well near the city hall in Long Beach, Cal., and was donated by the Continental Commercial Corp. of Long Beach.

British Labor Will Fight Wage Policy

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—British labor unions called on their powerful trades union congress today to mobilize its 7,000,000 members for a showdown fight against the government's curb on general pay increases.

The demands came in numerous resolutions submitted by the unions for adoption by the T.U.C. at its Sept. 1 meeting. A typical one said: "The Congress . . . will reject attempts to restrict justifiable wage increases to ease the burden of rising living costs."

Prime Minister Churchill's ministers have refused to approve any further general pay boosts and warned that another round of them would speed inflation and price British products out of badly-needed export markets.

Mother Warned Injured Son to Avoid Bus Travel

A young Victoria man injured in a bus accident near Salmon Arm Saturday night had been warned by his mother against bus travel.

He is Elmer Brown, 22, 572 John Street, who was taken to Salmon Arm Hospital with 23 other passengers injured when an east-bound Greyhound bus swerved off the Trans-Canada Highway 12 miles east of Salmon Arm and rolled over 3½ times in plunging 100 feet into a gorge.

Mrs. C. E. Brown, mother of the injured man, said today: "I told him he should have traveled by train. I just had a feeling he should have."

INJURIES UNKNOWN

Mrs. Brown's son was proceeding to Montreal where he expected to be taken on a deepsea vessel as a seaman. He has been employed on the Ss. Perry, the hydrographic survey ship. He left Victoria Friday.

His injuries are not known, but he is not listed among the "seriously injured."

Miraculously, no one was killed in the accident. All 24 passengers were taken to Salmon Arm Hospital, none in critical condition. Five, including the driver, Albert Salter, Vancouver, were treated and discharged within a few hours.

The bus came to rest on its side beside a small creek. Most of the passengers crawled out of the window beside the driver's seat before someone was able to force open the emergency door.

Passengers were unanimous in their praise for the driver and said there was no panic. He cut the ignition and lights as the bus was rolling over to prevent fire.

Four children aboard the bus could be heard calling for their parents in the pitch blackness of the gorge.

SWERVED SUDDENLY

The bus was en route from Vancouver to Calgary when the accident occurred about 11 p.m. Bill Folland of nearby Sicamous, who was driving behind the bus, said the bus was not going fast when it suddenly swerved to the lefthand side of the road in the middle of a hairpin turn and tumbled over the embankment.

"I was just dozing off when I felt the bus give a lurch and we started to roll over," said Edward Hendry of Toronto. "I counted three times that we rolled over before the bus stopped on its side."

The injured were brought to hospital by passing motorists who clambered down the bank. There were three stretcher cases. The small, 27-bed hospital was soon jammed and extra nurses were called in.

Most seriously injured was elderly Robert Pendergast of Sylvan, Alta. He suffered undetermined internal injuries.

Others injured: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bossley, Sicamous; Mrs. Betty McGaurlich, Calgary; Maureen and Wayne McHale, two children travelling alone to Revelstoke, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Francis (4130 Slocan St.) Vancouver; George Grundon, New Westminster, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Torply, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. E. B. Graham (623 Victoria St.), Winnipeg; Edward Hendry (50-A Lawrence Ave. E.), Toronto; John D. Grant (429 Aberdeen Ave.), Cornwall, Ont.; Elmer Brown (572 John St.), Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell and two daughters, Heather and Myrna (821 North Drive), Fort Gary, Man.

Treated and discharged were: George Milne, Westview, B.C.; Gladys Rogers, Buchanan, Sask.; Isolde Mattischek (169 Matthews), Vancouver; Bert Kenny, Vancouver, and the Driver, Albert Salter, Vancouver.

Salmon Arm is 350 miles northeast of Vancouver.

Air Force Officer Sentenced to Jail

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., July 28 (BUP).—Dismissal from the service and a six-month prison term is the sentence meted out to a Royal Canadian Air Force officer convicted of theft in Summerside.

A court martial—which concluded Saturday—found Pilot Officer J. E. E. Bernier guilty as charged. The charge—laid under the National Defense Act—said the accused "converted to his own use" the proceeds of six cheques totalling some $4,000 in value.

The act was committed while Bernier was serving as non-public accounts officer at the R.C.A.F.'s Summerside base.

The Air Force says the cheques in question were intended for the station fund and the officers' mess.

Vancouver Police Uncover 'Arsenal'

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP). —A home-made bomb, hand grenades and a Luger automatic were found by police Saturday when they recovered hundreds of dollars' worth of stolen goods in the basements of two brothers.

George Hoy, 29, was charged with retaining and receiving goods stolen, and his brother Herbert, 28, with possessing explosives.

Alcan Plans Wide Growth

Aluminum Limited and Nathanael Vining Davis, president, are subject of the cover story in the current issue of Business Week magazine.

Davis and the men who run the aluminum group of companies, the report says, are betting their shirts — and the future of a $500-million-plus worldwide industrial complex—on a terrific, snowballing demand for aluminum. Already on the drawing boards for the future are hundreds of millions of dollars in expansion blueprints.

Nothing riles aluminum people more than being thought of as a branch office of Aluminum Co. of America—or as Alcan's strong silent partner in a mythical world aluminum cartel, says the business management weekly. But that's the case to many Americans. But today, the opposite is true. Aluminium declared its independence years ago. It is now a strong competitor of its old parent.

Alcan looms larger and larger on the horizon for U.S. business. Alcan is pretty generally recognized as the lowest cost producer of ingot. Alcan aims to compete more and more in the U.S., concentrating on independent fabricators who would just as soon trade with Alcan as with the U.S. ingot producers who compete with them on fabrication, B.W. says. U.S. ingot producers, eyeing Alcan's big expansion, wonder what would happen if demand ever cut back.

Aluminum preaches autonomy above everything. Each of the group management companies is equipped to handle all kinds of problems for operating companies and gets a fee for its services.

Napoleon once contemplated residence in the United States. The emperor is quoted in the National Geographic Magazine as saying to his brother Joseph: "If we are forced to flee to America, I should choose a place between Philadelphia and New York on the Delaware River, in order to get news by packet."

U.S. Net Team In Clean Sweep Over Japanese

CINCINNATI, July 28 (AP)—The United States Sunday completed a 5-0 sweep over Japan in the American zone Davis Cup eliminations but not before a favored Art Larsen had been given the hardest kind of a battle by the youngest member of the Japanese team.

Twenty-year-old Atsushi Miyagi, who looks too frail even to be able to stand up for five sets in 100-degree temperature for almost two and a half hours, did just that in his match against Larsen.

The erratic American southpaw from San Leandro, Calif., finally emerged with a 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3 triumph as Miyagi tired noticeably in the final set.

Prior to that match Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the United States' No. 1 singles player, turned in the best American performance of the three days of battling as he polished off Fumiteru Nakano, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

It was the first tournament victory for Besselink, who plays out of Escondido, Calif., in his first full year along the P.G.A. trails and it brought him $2,400.

Jimmy Clark of Huntingdon Beach, Calif., was third and Jimmy Turnesa, the P.G.A. champion from Briar Cliff Manor, N.Y., was fourth.

The Most Powerful Gasoline Your Car Can Use!

Get Activated!

Today's more powerful engines require a highly complex gasoline to deliver their full power. There can be as many as 1500 different chemical compounds in a gallon of gasoline.

To select the best of these chemicals, and to arrange them properly to fulfill the needs of your car calls for the last word in refinery equipment and scientific skill.

It is Shell's manufacturing policy to make "The most powerful gasoline your car can use." Shell activates gasoline by splitting and rearranging petroleum molecules.

The result—Shell Premium—the most powerful gasoline your car can use. See the Shell Dealer in your neighborhood.

Paddlers Gain Olympic Final

Japanese Swim Team Sets Mark; Millman Qualifies

HELSINKI, July 28 (CP)—Canada's paddling experts advanced into the finals of two phases of the Olympic canoe competition today as Japan's swimmers moved back into the swimming spotlight they held before the war.

Bert Oldershaw, of Toronto, placed third in his heat of the men's 1,000-metre race in the singles with the leather-covered kayak and just got under the wire for the seventh and last qualifying spot.

Two other qualifiers were Arthur Johnson and Tom Hodgson, both of Toronto, who were third in their heat of the men's 1,000-metre race for Canadian-style canoes.

But another Toronto pair, George Cordner and Bob Ward, finished sixth and last in their heat of the pairs and were eliminated.

Canadian swimmers did not put up such a good showing as the paddlers. The Canadian relay team of Peter Salmon, Victoria; Lucien Beaumont, Quebec; Leo Portelance and Allen Gilchrist, of Ocean Falls, B.C., were eliminated when they placed fourth in their heat of the 800-metre swimming relay in 9:10.9.

A Japanese quartet set an Olympic record in the relay, winning their heat in 8:42.1—3.9 1/10 seconds better than the record set by American swimmers in 1948.

The Japanese time for the distance fell short of the world record 8:29.4 clocking set by a Yale quartet at New Haven, Conn., last February 16, but it served notice of a serious threat to the Olympic swimming domination maintained by the United States in the 1948 games at London.

The teams qualifying for final competition were Japan, the United States, Sweden, Hungary, France, South Africa, Argentina and Britain.

Slowest of the qualifying times was Britain's, 8:59.7—11 1/5 seconds faster than the Canadians.

Another Canadian, Jack Millman, 21-year-old Vancouver cyclist, won his heat in the 1,000-metre scratch race repechage and qualified for Tuesday's quarter-finals. He placed second in his first heat in that event.

Otherwise, it was quiet morning on the Olympic front.

But there was some disappointment in the Canadian camp over the performance of the paddlers even though they advanced in two out of their three tests today.

The paddlers were disappointed by their failure to win any of their heats.

George Bossy of Montreal, who specializes in the single-blade events, said:

"Generally speaking we are not entirely satisfied with our showing. It is possible that we built ourselves up to expect a little too much."

BRAZIL CAGERS WIN

Brazil won the first game of the Olympic basketball semi-final round robin today, whipping Chile 75-44. The two South American teams are in the same group with the defending champion United States team and Russia.

The eight first-round survivors are split into two groups of four for the semi-finals. They play a round-robin set with the two top teams of each group advancing to the finals.

Canada was eliminated in the first round robin with three straight losses.

Argentina defeated Bulgaria, 100-56.

F. H. LINDSAY TAKES TOP CONSOLATION PRIZE

F. H. Lindsay, 25 Lotus, was the winner of the refrigerator, top consolation prize in the Anglers-Times salmon derby held at Saanich Inlet Sunday.

Mrs. M. Jefrfey, 3134 Alder, won the portable radio, second prize.

The three-piece silver carving set, last of the non-fishing prizes, was won by Ted Bowcott, 777 St. Patrick. Winners were decided at the prize-giving for anglers weighing in the largest salmon at the Anchorage, Brentwood.

TRACK AND FIELD ENDS

Zatopek Wins Olympic Triple

HELSINKI, July 28 (CP)—The 1952 Olympic Games came to the half-way mark Sunday in another roaring blaze of track and field records, brought under control only because there was nothing left for the flames to feed on.

In the full schedule of 32 track events run off since last Sunday, 27 Olympic and nine world records were broken.

The climax was reached Sunday when Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's sensational long-distance runner, ran his field of 66 ragged and won the Olympic marathon, completing an Olympic triple within a week.

Zatopek already had the 5,000-metre and 10,000-metre gold medals when he set out on Sunday's marathon, a race in which he had never competed before. It was Zatopek's race practically all the way and so far as the crowd of 70,000 in Olympic Stadium was concerned, it was Zatopek Day.

But while Zatopek was pounding the paved highways outside Helsinki and then trotting fresh-looking into the stadium for the finish in Olympic record time, here's what happened:

ONLY POINT

Jamaica's quartet of runners won the 1,600-metre relay and set world and Olympic records. Canada's team placed fourth—the only point-scoring place won by Canada in track and field competition.

John Mikaelsson of Sweden won the 10,000-metre walk, setting a record and giving Sweden its first gold medal in these games.

The United States men's team won the 400-metre relay and American girls won the women's 400-metre relay. A poor exchange of the baton cost Australia the victory.

Ester Brand of South Africa won the women's high jumping championship.

The Sunday record-breaking was only a continuation of what happened Saturday and, for that matter, what had been going on all week.

Gerry Gratton and Dave Baillie of Montreal placed second and fifth respectively, in weightlifting competitions.

Gratton was awarded first place by two of the three officials but a protest by the United States went to a seven-man jury of appeal and the jury reversed the decision, giving the championship to Peter George of the U.S.

The Americans questioned the officials' judgment on Gratton's first lift.

Dave Baille of Montreal, entered in the heavyweight class, said:

"Weightlifters from other countries who were on hand have voluntarily told us they thought it was unsporting on the part of the Americans to protest.

"They also said Gratton's lift was legitimate . . ."

Ken Lane and Doug Hawgood of Toronto scored a second in the canoeing race for Canadian-type pairs. Norm Lane of Ottawa was fifth in the singles.

Along with the fourth-place finish in the 1,600-metre relay team, all this added up to 27 points for Canada.

Pointless before the week-end in the unofficial standings, Canada went into 17th place.

Despite success at track and field, the United States still trailed Russia with little hope of catching up in the final week of various sports.

RUSSIA STILL LEADS

Russia, bolstered by heavy scoring in gymnastics and wrestling, led with 496½ points, on the 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis for first six places in any final. The United States had 378 points. Hungary was the next closest with 164.

Except for Canada's fourth in the 1,600-metre relay, Canadians had no point-score placings in the final two days of track and field competition.

Paul Collins of Wolfville, N.S., was 39th in the marathon, in which a field of 66 started and 53 finished.

Alice Whitty of Vancouver placed 10th in the women's high jump and Bob Adams of Saskatoon placed 19th in the gruelling decathlon—10-event competition which Bob Mathias of the United States won Saturday with a record number of points and successfully defended his Olympic championship.

CAGERS ELIMINATED

Canada's basketball team was eliminated Saturday after successive defeats at the hands of Brazil and Argentina. Both South American teams showed surprising strength. The Canadians were defeated by the narrowest of margins—57-55 by Brazil, and 82-81 by Argentina.

The final game in the bracket Sunday was only a consolation match and Canada lost to the Philippines, 81-65.

The United States, Uruguay, Russia, France, Chile and Bulgaria remained in the championship tournament, along with Brazil and Argentina.

The first gold medal in the swimming championships went to Clark Scholes of the United States, winner in the 100-metre freestyle race. Canadian entrants were eliminated Saturday.

Chris Forstrom Captures Top Solarium-Day Award

By ROY THORSEN

The 1952 edition of the Queen Alexandra Solarium benefit salmon derby sponsored by the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the Victoria Daily Times has realized the biggest purseful of dollars ever recorded for these events.

It was indicated by officials handling this year's program at the close of the derby Sunday that last year's record figure of $2,426 for the Solarium had been topped.

It will be several days before the figure on the cheque that will be handed over to the crippled kiddies' institution will be announced.

Pretty close to 700 anglers in boats from the luxury class down to the row-your-own type took part in the mammoth derby—and a fisherman by the name of Chris Forstrom today is relaxing in his home on the Times' Lazy-Boy chair by virtue of the fact he was tops in the prize-winning bracket.

He was the man who reeled in the biggest spring salmon of the day to win the comfortable chair. The salmon weighed 26 pounds.

A 16-year-old miss, Sylvia Lomas, Grilse Lane, Brentwood, was the leader in the women's ranks. She registered a 21½-pounder to win the latest wonder in Mix-Masters by Westinghouse. This was also donated by the Times.

Ken Galbraith Top Junior

Top junior in the fishfest was Ken Galbraith. The little fellow rode off on a new English racing bike by heading the younger generation with a five-pound salmon. This was the third feature prize donated by the Times.

Prizes were awarded before several hundred anglers and non-competitors at the Anchorage Boathouse at Brentwood an hour after the derby had closed.

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Times, was the central figure in the prize-presentation program. He paid tribute to anglers' prexy Wil Wilson and the committee for a fine job "for such a worthwhile cause" before handing over prizes to the winners.

Harry Woolston, who started the angling clan off on the Solarium campaign, and Wes Fulton, were the two heading the committee in the 1952 derby.

Majority of the big salmon—there were few—were caught in the early hours of the day. Lucky Louie pearl-pink plugs lured them, according to winners' comments for Norm Pringle of CKDA, who took a tape-recording of the prize-presentation ceremonies, rebroadcast later Sunday night.

Second biggest salmon of the day was reeled in by F. Frost. It went 25 pounds. He won a traveling bag. G. H. Gilman boated a specimen going 21½ pounds to win a salmon rod and reel.

Several Big Catches Taken

Victoria Times' sports editor Bill Walker won the fourth prize, a fly rod and reel, with his 20½-pound catch.

Art Midlane's 19-pounder took fifth prize, a refrigerated metal box.

Second biggest fish by a female rod artist was taken by Mrs. K. Williams. She won the seventh prize, an electric kettle. Her fish weighed 18¾ pounds. J. Taylor, who was on the same boat which Forstrom caught his big one, won a fishing net with a 17¼-pounder. Mrs. V. Greencock won the eight-prize electric clock with a 15½-pounder.

D. Maycock was the proud youngster who won a baseball and bat autographed by Victoria Tyees personnel. He was second in the junior race with a 3½-pound salmon. Grant Craigmile and Gerald Smith broke even in the junior division with salmon going 2½ pounds and Smith won the coin toss-up to win the lacrosse ball and stick autographed by members of Victoria Shamrocks. A duplicate prize will be awarded Craigmile.

Other winners were: Ninth, R. Webb, 10¼ pounds; 10th, G. Thompson, 9 pounds; 11th, R. Cull, 8¾ pounds; 12th, L. Goodsill, 8 pounds; 13th, Roy Smith, 7 pounds, and 14th, Henry Mark.

POLICE CALLED TO QUELL RIOT

Referee Kayoed In Olympic Hoop Game

HELSINKI, July 28 (AP)—France defeated Uruguay 68-66 today in a rough-and-tumble Olympic basketball tournament game that ended in a riot with American referee Vincent Farrell out cold on the floor.

The Uruguayans, playing with only three men, tied the score at 66-66 with only seconds to play. Then Jacques Dessemme of France stole the ball on the throw-in, raced down the court and threw up an easy lay-in shot as the final bell sounded.

Immediately three Uruguayan players surrounded Farrell. Wilsreda Pelaez threw a punch that caught the referee on the jaw. He went down heavily and a stockily-built spectator rushed out from the sidelines and kicked him.

Farrell was carried unconscious from the floor. Police swarmed to the floor as the Uruguayan players and their supporters demonstrated wildly.

By that time, the floor was a melee with groups of players, spectators and officials milling around. A dozen or more shoving matches started but all were quieted without further serious trouble.

Medalist Upset In Gorge Meet

Two upsets and a near-upset marked the first round of match play in the Gorge Vale Golf Club's handicap tournament Sunday.

Medalist Len Brookbank was ousted 4 and 3 by Al Tregallis in the feature match while Eric Barber, one of the lowest handicappers, lost 2 and 1 to Laurie Greenwood.

Defending champion Johnny Merriman was extended to the limit before downing Stan Evans, 2 and 1.

Second round of match play is slated for next Sunday.

BRANCA BENCHED

BROOKLYN, July 28 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers announced Sunday they had placed pitcher Ralph Branca on the disabled list and recalled righthander Joe Landrum to take his place.

Marciano 2-1 Choice Over Matthews Tonight

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP).—Slugger Rocky Marciano and boxer Harry Matthews risk their careers in one daring gamble tonight for a September shot at the world's heavyweight title. Marciano is a 2 to 1 favorite.

Scouting from a ringside pew at Yankee Stadium will be Jersey Joe Walcott, the 38-year-old champion who has agreed to meet the winner in the fall.

Forecasts of fair, warm weather were counted on to bring a last-minute surge to the box office. The International Boxing Club expects to draw over 25,000 fans and $250,000 for the show.

There will be no radio, television or theatre television of this 10-round elimination bout, scheduled for 10 p.m. E.D.T. In the event of rain, it will be pushed back to Tuesday night.

For Marciano, unbeaten in 41 pro fights, and Matthews, who hasn't lost in 70 starts since 1943, this will be the real crossroads. After tonight, it's on toward the title or back to the clubs in Providence or Omaha.

Marciano, a swarthy 27-year-old from the shoetown of Brockton, Mass., is a crunching puncher who fights out of a crouch. A left hook to the body and a long overhand right to the head are his best weapons. Rough and hard to handle, he is built like a wrestler with strong, solid legs and short brawny arms.

Matthews, 29, is a classy stylist with 105 pro fights. A fine boxer with long arms and quick hands, he is a fine counter puncher, specializing in short sharp jolts to the body. The pride of the great northwest and his home town of Seattle, Matthews soared toward the top under the guidance of manager Jack Hurley.

Everything Goes Right For Amateurs On 'Day'

Beat Tyees, Net $1,300; Heard Captures 15th Win

There are 1,300 precious dollars in the coffers of the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association today, dollars that may save the life of amateur baseball in Victoria.

The money was donated at Athletic Park Sunday when nearly 6,000 people jammed the park to see the Victoria Tyees play the Senior Amateur All-Stars in the big Amateur Day program.

That the All-Stars beat the Tyees 10-9 did not matter too much in the light of all the horseplay that entered the game.

The fans got their money worth as they saw a completely hilarious game that ended with only Cec Garriott and his catcher facing the All-Stars.

Walt Townes started on the hill for the Tyees with the regular team in the field. But before it was over, the Tyees had used three first basemen, three second basemen, three shortstops and five outfielders, the entire roster getting a workout.

Garriott relieved Townes on the hill and it still remains a mystery as to whether Garriott waved his team off the field or whether they left the field themselves to gloat at their skipper's predicament. With two men on base, Garriott got two strikes on All-Star Rookie Wright when Wright slammed one to the fence. Before Garriott could catch up to the ball, the three runners scored.

The Tyees were greatly impressed with the pitching of Paul Beck who received credit for the victory.

On Saturday the Tyees split a doubleheader with the Spokane Indians, dropping the afternoon game 12-3 and winning the nightcap 3-1.

ERRORS COSTLY

Bill Prior was the losing hurler in the first game when nothing went right for the Tyees. Prior had a 1-0 lead for four innings but his own error on a throw to third opened the gates for the Indians to stage a five-run inning. Eric Gard took over in the sixth and he, too, made a costly boot as the Indians scored five more runs.

Jehosie Heard recorded his 15th win of the season in the final as Garriott clouted a tremendous 390-foot homer in the sixth inning with one runner on to erase a 1-0 Spokane lead. Heard gave up seven hits, walked three and struck out 11.

Tonight the Tyees play an exhibition game in Tacoma against an all-star club, and Tuesday night they open a three-game set in Wenatchee, followed by four games in Lewiston. They return home against Yakima Aug. 4.

LUBY SETS MARK

Salem Manager Hugh Luby bobbled the ball at second base against Wenatchee Sunday night and a new record went into Western International League books.

It was the first error for the ex-major leaguer in 52 consecutive games during which he handled 144 putouts and 183 assists.

Despite Luby's miscue, Salem went on to win the seven-inning game 4-2. Wenatchee took the regulation nine-inning nightcap of the twin bill 2-1, however, on five-hit pitching by Len Stites.

In other league action, Spokane won a doubleheader from Lewiston 15-3 and 11-2 and Tri-City blasted Yakima 14-1 in a single game at Kennewick.

Tri-City's Bob Greenwood turned in another two-hitter at Kennewick and also starred at the plate. His eighth inning double drove in three of the five runs the Braves scored in the inning off Rookie John King.

The win was the first for the Braves in the four-game series. Yakima won a Saturday doubleheader 1-0 and 8-6. In other Saturday action, Wenatchee downed Salem 6-2; Lewiston and Vancouver divided 2-0 and 5-8.

Dodgers' Lead Pared; Yanks Split Twin Bill

Preacher Roe, tall, lanky Brooklyn Dodgers' southpaw, is the National League's leading pitcher and also the luckiest.

Roe hasn't lost a game all season but his impressive-looking record doesn't take into consideration that he has finished only six of his 17 starts.

His last victory was June 24. Since then he has started five times without being involved in a final decision.

Sunday he was lifted in the sixth inning with Brooklyn trailing St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. Dodgers tied the score 3-3 but Cards scored in the ninth to win their third straight from Brooklyn 4-3. The loser? Reliefer Johnny Rutherford.

Over in the American League, little Bobby Shantz played up the contrast between his pitching feats and those of the preacher.

Shantz, who has finished 19 of the 21 games he has started for the sixth-place Philadelphia Athletics, went all the way to beat Chicago White Sox 3-1 on five hits in the first game of a doubleheader.

18TH VICTORY

It was the 18th win against three defeats for Shantz. Athletics also won the second game 9-3.

Sunday was quite a day for southpaws. Reliefer Harry (the cat) Brecheen was awarded the victory over Brooklyn, his first over the Dodgers since July 29, 1949. Harry Perkowski snapped New York's five-game winning streak, pitching Cincinnati Reds to an 11-4 triumph over Giants. The scheduled second game was postponed by rain, leaving Giants still 4½ games behind Dodgers.

YANKS SPLIT

Billy Hoeft, 20-year-old Detroit lefthander, handed New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, pitching Tigers to an 8-3 triumph over Allie Reynolds. Yankees snapped their losing string, longest under Manager Casey Stengel, when rookie southpaw Bill Miller shut out Tigers 6-0 in the second game.

Other lefthanders to shine were Alex Kellner, who hurled the Athletics' second game win over the White Sox, and Gene Bearden, who pitched St. Louis Browns to their third straight win over Boston Red Sox 8-1. Red Sox, with manager Lou Boudreau appearing in the line-up for the first time this year, took the second game of the twin-bill 9-3.

CLEVELAND SECOND

Cleveland Indians used right-handers exclusively to sweep a pair from Washington, 3-1 and 3-2, and climb into second place in the American League. Luke Easter's three-run homer in the eighth off Walter Masterson overcame a 2-0 deficit in the nightcap. Bob Lemon and Steve Gromek were the winners.

I.O.C. RAPS PRACTICE OF PRINTING STANDINGS

HELSINKI, July 28 (AP) — The International Olympic Committee today unanimously passed a resolution "deploring the practice of publishing the standings of the nations in the games." The resolution was introduced by Avery Brundage of Chicago, president-elect of the I.O.C.

Olympic competition, Brundage said, is solely on an individual basis and any team scores are unofficial.

Almost since the beginning of the "modern" Olympics in 1896 newspapers have compiled unofficial team scores. The accepted system of scoring in Canada and the United States is 10 points for each first place, five for second, and 4-3-2-1 for the next four places which are recognized by the presentation of medals or certificates. Some other countries use different scoring systems.

On a 10-5-4-3-2-1 count, Russia leads in scoring in the 1952 games with 496½ points to 376 for the United States and 164 for Hungary.

Forest Products Thump Visiting Neah Bay Side

The reputation of the local senior A men's softball held forth at Central Park Sunday afternoon when B.C. Forest Products thumped the weak-hitting 758 A.C. and W. Sqdn. softball team from Neah Bay, Washington, 9-1.

It marked the fourth straight time that a team from below the border had been sent back without a victory this year.

The exhibition series was originally billed as a double-header, but the second game could not be played because of time limitations.

The American pitcher appeared to have difficulty finding the plate due to the difference in distance from the hill to the plate. The pitching distance is five feet greater in the U.S.

Larry DeGropper opened on the mound for the losers and bumped into some tough breaks. He walked the first two batters he faced and two hits and a couple of fielder's choices brought in three runs for the Millmen.

The locals added three more in the second, a singleton in the third and finished out their scoring in the fourth with a brace of tallies.

HASKELL IN FORM

Norm Haskell, who just returned from a tour of sea duty with the Navy, went the first three innings for Forest Products, striking out eight out of nine batters he faced and allowing only a scratch bunt.

Bud Ross hurled the next three innings and held the Neah Bay team at bay as he never allowed a hit. Cy Guest finished up and was reached for the only clean hit the loser picked up. They scored their only run in eighth by pulling a double steal.

GAME TONIGHT

This week marks the close of the league schedule and Pitzer & Nex play B.C. Forest Products tonight at 7, and finish out the schedule on Tuesday night against Butler's Aces.

A win for Forest Products or a loss to the Aces will put the former in second spot in the final standings.

Short score follows:

		R.	H.	E.
Neah Bay	000 000 010—	1	2	2
B.C.F. Products	331 200 00x—	9	9	1

Morrison Alternate On Willingdon Cup Team

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP).— A team that "virtually picked itself" was selected Sunday to represent British Columbia in the Willingdon Cup golf classic to be played here Aug. 25 to 30.

Gordon Bowers of the B.C. Golf Association announced Walt McElroy of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champion, would lead the four-man squad.

Bill Mawhinney, Percy Clogg and Walt McAlpine, all of Vancouver, were chosen along with McElroy.

"The team virtually picked itself by their performances this year," Bowers said. "We didn't feel the need of the (Willingdon Cup) trials because these same fellows would in all probability have come out on top as usual."

Doug. Bajus of Vancouver and Bob Morrison of Victoria were picked as alternates.

Mawhinney earlier had captured the B.C. closed amateur with a 72-hole score of 285, six strokes better than Clogg.

Albions Lead

Albions continued on the trail to the Victoria and District Cricket Association championship Saturday when they played to a draw with Alcos.

The one point gave them a two-point margin over second place Incogs who were downed 124-37 by Oak Bay. The Bays moved into a tie with Incogs for the runner-up position.

Five-C's were tumbled to fourth place when they absorbed a 118-110 loss at the hands of Cowichan.

Jack Sparks of Oak Bay turned in the outstanding performance of the three games. He retired the last three Incog batters on three bowled balls for the coveted hat trick.

Eagles Strengthen Baseball Standing

Eagles consolidated their third-place position in the Senior Amateur Baseball League Saturday with an 18-8 victory over Plumbers.

George Robinson hit two homers and a triple in five trips. Jim Thompson allowed six hits in recording the mound triumph.

Eileen Learoyd of the Canadian Scottish Rifle Association topped marksmen at Heals Rifle Range Saturday in the weekly shoot with 95 out of a possible 100 at the 900-yard range.

Rocks Eliminate Sons From Playoff Picture

Victoria Shamrocks Saturday night made it official in so far as the Nanaimo Native Sons of the Intercity Lacrosse League are concerned.

The Irish eliminated the Sons from possible participation in the league playoffs with a 21-7 victory, their first triumph at Nanaimo in three games this year.

It is now mathematically impossible for the Sons to gain one of the four league playoff berths.

The Irish led 3-1 at the end of the first quarter and then practically routed the Sons by scoring nine goals without a reply, in the second frame, for a 12-1 half-time lead.

Archie Browning scored four goals, Jackie Northup and Bob Monaghan three each. The Rocks played without the services of Norm Baker and Whitey Severnson, who were ushers at the wedding of hockey star Eddie Dorohoy to Miss Dorothy Switzer.

Rocks, who hold a six-point lead over Vancouver, Indians and New Westminster, all three teams being tied for second, will meet Vancouver at Kerrisdale Tuesday.

10,000 at Sooke for Feed and Speed

By DAVE STOCK

There was really an exciting show out Sooke way Saturday.

Yet few Sooke people saw it. They were too busy providing top sport events, games and good food to the visitors.

And while most of the folks were from nearby Victoria, practically all island centres were represented; and there were people from the Prairies, eastern Canada and the United States as well.

This year's All-Sooke Day, in fact, drew a crowd of about 10,000.

So many cars converged on the rural community during the afternoon that some persons were required to park two miles on either side of the carnival grounds. There were an estimated 3,000 cars parked in the area.

There were foot races for young and old, midway games of all descriptions, and the traditional rough, tough logger sports.

THIRTY-SECOND CLIMB

The high-rigging contest once again established itself as the most thrilling event.

Three competitors entered this year's grind. Each was required to scale an 87-foot spar tree; ring a bell at the top and return to the ground.

Dan Sailor, of New West minister, last year's champ, won again by performing the trick in 30 seconds flat.

At 23, he figures he will be able to take the title for "a few years yet."

Real competition was provided Sailor, however, by Ernie Alexander who lives at 1112 Balmoral Road, Victoria.

The 28-year-old won the world's high rigger title earlier this month in competition with eight other top-notch loggers at Albany, Oregon. His time for the Sooke event, however, was 34 2-5 seconds.

SLIPPED ON DESCENT

Third man in the race was another Victorian, 24-year-old Jim Douglas, of 892 Craigflower, who horrified the huge crowd of spectators when he slipped and fell 35 feet while making his descent.

Douglas was badly stunned and shaken after the fall but escaped serious injury. After regaining his breath, he managed to pull himself up from the deep sawdust pit at the base of the spar and walk away under his own power.

The crowd shouted its relief, while Douglas shrugged off offers of first-aid and advised St. John Ambulance Brigade to attend, instead, a woman spectator who fainted when he fell.

In other logger sports, Hughie McKenzie, 36-year-old, 205-pound Victoria shipwright placed first in the two major chopping events and second in the log bucking contest.

With 15 years' experience with Comox Logging Railway Company behind him, he found no difficulty in beating all competition in the axe events.

McKenzie had not figured on taking the chopping contests but had been confident of winning the bucking competition. In the bucking, he placed second to J. Charley Murray, of Wellington, a previous winner.

In the log rolling event, Harry Helgesen again demonstrated that he is the man to beat. He's won the big silver trophy for log rolling nearly a dozen times.

Once a logger, he now insists he is through with the woods and prefers to be classified as an oyster farmer.

Results follow:

Vivacious Lorraine Dupcan, Sooke, was winner of the bathing beauty contest, included in this year's celebration program for the first time. Lorraine was selected by popular vote. She was sponsored in the contest by the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute.

Other contestants were Esther Gibson, Mount Shepherd Logging Company; Anna Jensen, Provincial Government Employees' Association; Myrna Reid, Sooke Athletic Association; Pat Gibson, another contestant entered by Provincial Government Employees' Association, and Connie Brown, Brown's Cedar Poles.

Graphic Photos Show Wounded Freighter, Death Trap for Two Crewmen Killed in Collision Off Nanaimo

Even this graphic photograph, taken near Harmac Sunday afternoon, fails to convey the full extent of the wound in the side of Ss. Triton—the jagged-edge hole extends 27 feet from deckline down under the water. Bow of Island Commander, one of the Island Tug and Barge ships standing by, is directly opposite a water-tight bulkhead—one of the two which keeps the ship afloat as salvage crews rig a temporary patch. Death-trap for ship's carpenter was this shattered crew cabin. Bow of the Alaska-bound Ss. Baranof sheared through steel sides of ship, crushed them against sleeping man in his berth. Here Times reporter Monte Roberts surveys wreckage of the 'tween decks space. Immediately below his feet is the hole opening directly into the engine-room, which is flooded to within a few feet of main deck level.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I like week-ends.

I like Saturday, because you can look forward to not doing anything all day Sunday.

I like Sunday, because you can spend the whole day not doing it.

My idea of a pleasant Sunday in summer is to lie flat on the lawn completely surrounded by newspapers and magazines.

Sometimes, I even read a few of them, and it is surprising how much I learn.

For instance, I learned that August is the fur coat season, and no man in his right mind can afford to NOT buy his wife a fur coat at the current ridiculously low prices.

(I am glad I am not in my right mind).

On the subject of fur coats, I also learned that there is an especially attractive price on a dropped natural beaver coat.

I would be wary of this bargain, though, as the coat may have been seriously damaged when dropped.

I also learned from the advertisements that there are several firms whose names include the descriptive words "building supplies."

All I am not clear on, what kind of supplies are they building? Could they be for use at a supplies party?

And I found out that Ogopogo has made an appearance before 25 people in or near Penticton.

He should be ashamed.

A self-respecting, modest sea-serpent like our Caddy would never be so bold as to expose himself to so many people at once.

Cease this rank exhibitionism, Ogopogo, and stick to one and two-person showings.

Familiarity breeds contempt, you know. It would never do to let so many people see you that you are accepted as a fact.

One more thing I found out this week-end, and I did not read this in the paper.

I found out that Sunday is immediately followed by Monday.

Unfortunately.

Bow of Baranof was opened from stem to first water-tight bulkhead when two ships met. CP Photo shows the U.S. ship entering Vancouver harbor, with tarpaulin patch over part of mouth-like hole.

Plans for a car-racing oval have been dropped by the Royal Portage Parks Ltd., the company planning a $9,000,000 recreational centre at Portage Inlet.

Geoffrey Edgelow, company spokesman, announced after a Saturday afternoon meeting the decision was made after investigation of protests from View Royal and Portage Inlet residents.

He said investigation showed that chief opposition to the project was the noise from car racing. It's not the intention of the syndicate to annoy the neighboring residents, Mr. Edgelow said.

Hatcher Asks Service Clubs' Defense Help

All-out support of civil defense from local service clubs was asked today by Leonard G. Hatcher, director of the local target area.

Mr. Hatcher was addressing members of the Victoria Gyro Club at their weekly luncheon meeting.

He pointed out that another service club—the Lions—had enrolled in C.D. 100 per cent.

In addition to Gyro members backing the whole program, Mr. Hatcher told the meeting he would like to see the club's women's auxiliary take on a specific job. He suggested, in this regard, that they organize and staff a welfare centre in Victoria.

"We are not perfect. We know that almost from day to day we must alter our plans . . . and I am always open for good, concrete suggestions from groups such as yours," said the target area director.

DEATH HAUNTS TRITON

Crew Living Above Decks

BY MONTE ROBERTS
Times Marine Reporter

A pall of gloom hangs over Ss. Triton today as the Greek freighter, a gaping hole torn in her starboard side, lies near Harmac pulp mill, south of Nanaimo.

The jarring crash, on Saturday, which saw the bow of Alaska Steamship Company's Baranof slice Triton's steel plates like cardboard, took the lives of two crewmen.

The body of third engineer Theodoris Mouzakis was still trapped in the flooded engine room as salvage workers from Island Tug & Barge Co., Victoria, rigged a temporary wooden patch over the hole and prepared to pump out the water.

Ship's carpenter Evangalen Voulgaris was crushed to death in his bunk when the passenger ship's bow crashed through the side of the freighter. His body was released from its tangled steel tomb by acetylene torches Saturday, and an inquest will be held in Nanaimo. He will be buried in Victoria.

NO EXPLANATION

No officer or crew member of Triton could give an explanation of the accident. The ship's master is not permitted to comment pending enquiry by the Department of Transport.

The ships were apparently on parallel courses, proceeding in opposite directions outside Nanaimo harbor at 1.30 a.m. Saturday when they came together.

"It happened so fast, I don't know what happened," said one crewman. "There was a big crash, and the ship went dead in the water."

WHISTLE SIGNAL?

Another seaman said he "thought" the ships had signalled each other by whistle blasts before the crash.

The bow of Baranof carved out a triangular hole 18 feet wide at the top, 6 feet wide at the bottom, and 27 feet from deckline to well below waterline.

Water rushing into the engine room "killed" the ship in a matter of minutes. The third engineer was trapped between two boilers. Another engineer, Polidorous Ciannoulesus, was injured in the crash, but managed to swim to the engine room ladder and pull himself up to the deck.

He was taken to hospital in Vancouver by Canadian Pacific Ss. Princess Patricia, and his condition is reported "good."

PROBLEM IN SALVAGE

Salvage operation, one of the biggest ever tackled on the Vancouver Island Coast, is in charge of Norman Turner, superintendent of Island Tug. Last evening a 32-foot steel girder was trucked to Nanaimo, and transferred to the derrick barge Skookum. It was welded along the deck, across the gap torn in the collision, to give the ship stability for the tow to Victoria.

A large wooden patch, waterproofed with tarpaulins and packing, was lowered over the hole this morning, and when it is made secure the hold will be pumped out. It is expected the tow will begin this evening or Tuesday morning.

DRYDOCKING HERE

Triton will be drydocked at Esquimalt by Yarrows Ltd. She is loaded with 10,800 tons of Japan-bound iron ore.

Veteran salvage men call it a "miracle" that she survived. "In any sort of sea, she'd have broken in two," one said.

Taking part in the salvage job are the tugs Island Sovereign, Island Ranger and Lloyd B. Gore, the derrick barge Skookum, and a lumber barge.

With a dead man floating in the flooded engine room, the crew of Triton is staying above decks. They slept on the hatch-covers, and are being fed in the galleys of the tugs standing by. Extra provisions were trucked to Nanaimo for transhipment Sunday night.

Triton is a 7,207-ton Victory-type ship launched in 1944 as Ida M. Tarbell, for the U.S. Maritime Commission. Baranof was built in 1919, and is of 4,990 tons.

Penfold Charges P.U.C. Head Subject to Politics' Pressure

Member Gives His Version Of Collision

Public Utilities Commission member D. K. Penfold said today chairman Percy E. George has "on two or three occasions attempted to allow political pressure to bear on the commission."

Mr. Penfold was replying to Mr. George's statement Saturday that he (Penfold) had been reluctant to co-operate. An open split occurred between the two officials when Mr. Penfold walked out of a Kelowna hearing in protest against the chairman's ruling that the Okanagan Telephone Company must make public its executives' salaries.

Mr. Penfold said he had "certainly taken objection" to the political pressure aspect, but knew nothing of growing friction between himself and the chairman to which Mr. George referred.

"I was associated with the late Dr. Carrothers for two and one-half years and he was most emphatic in not allowing politics to sway commission decisions. Dr. Carrothers was an educated man and had the training and background so necessary for a position on the Public Utilities Commission," Mr. Penfold stated.

PERFECT HARMONY

Mr. Penfold said the late chairman "never once made a ruling at any hearing without first discussing matters with me and there was always perfect harmony on the commission—then only two members".

Referring to the chairman's ruling which provoked the incident, Mr. Penfold said the transcript of evidence shows that the municipalities' legal representative asked for the salaries of the company officials. This, he said, drew an objection from the firm's legal representative.

The company's representative, according to Mr. Penfold, said he was prepared to give a complete breakdown of the requested salaries to the municipalities' spokesman in confidence.

Mr. Penfold said Mr. George replied: "If Mr. Washington (municipalities' counsel) would like to have it, I think it is his right."

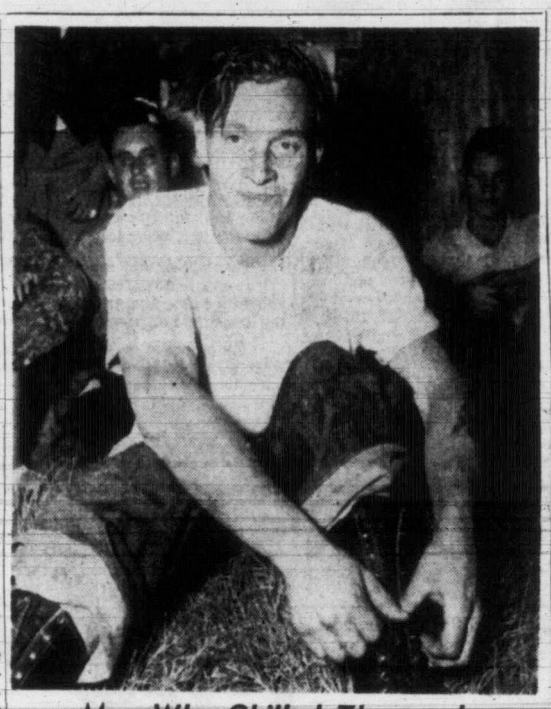
"SNAP DECISION"

"This was a matter of policy which Mr. George made without reference to either myself or Commissioner Potter. It was a snap decision, which he followed up again two or three times even in spite of the company's objections. I protested his actions and it was only then he turned to Mr. Potter and asked him if he agreed, which he did," explained Mr. Penfold.

Mr. Penfold said he learned later from the P.U.C.'s investigating auditor that he had warned Mr. George the previous day that the municipalities' counsel intended to ask for the information on salaries publicly.

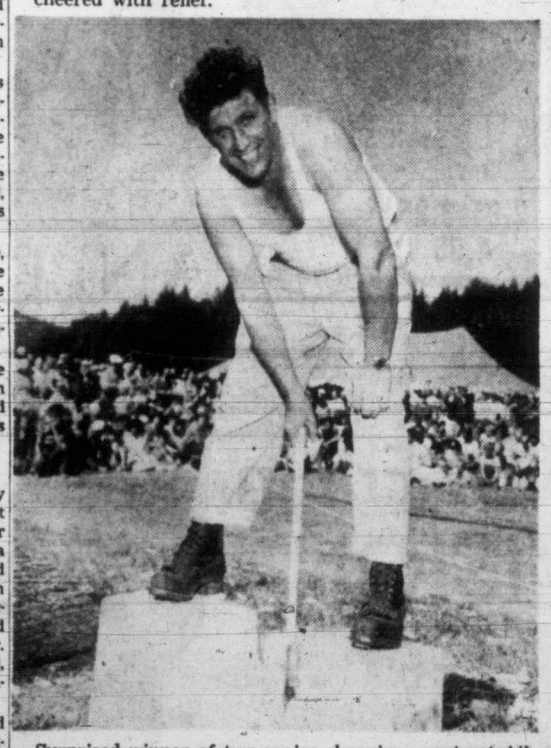
"It was then Mr. George's duty to have called the commission together to discuss policy, but he did not, and it would appear he had made up his mind what policy he would follow. All policy should be determined jointly, but this was not Mr. George's procedure which was entirely irregular," Mr. Penfold said.

Ss. Lake Pennask was in to King Bros. Ltd. at Ogden Point Sunday to discharge canned pineapple from Honolulu. She sailed for the mainland this morning to complete discharge.



Man Who Chilled Thousands

The grin "worn" by 24-year-old logger Jim Douglas of 892 Craigflower Road brought relief to thousands of persons who witnessed the spectacular high-rigging contest at All-Sooke Day Saturday. Douglas, one of three contestants, plummeted 35 feet when he slipped in descent of 87-foot spar pole. Crowd feared worst when he lay motionless at base of spar. Within minutes, however, he was able to pull himself up and smile. Crowd cheered with relief.



Surprised winner of two major chopping events at All-Sooke Day logger sports was husky Victoria shipwright Hughie McKenzie. McKenzie figured on retaining log-bucking title he won in 1951 but entered the axe events for warm-up exercise. He won both tree chopping and timber chopping contests, but placed second when time came for sawing match. For other All-Sooke Day pictures and stories see pages 6 and 10. (Times Photos.)

GANG THEFT SUSPECT HELD FOR HEARING

A city youth who told Magistrate H. C. Hall "I don't know how to plead" after a theft charge was read against him in police court today was remanded to Wednesday for hearing.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Mike Firman, no fixed address, when he was undecided as to how he would answer the charge.

He was arrested in connection with the theft of a $100 portable radio from Fred Christenson, 17, of 1293 Denman, early Sunday morning.

Christenson told police he was struck by one of four men while walking along Government at Cormorant with two companions and the radio was taken from him.

The quartet fled after the attack.

PROPERTY SEIZURE CALLED OFF

Writ Withdrawn Against Randall

A writ of fieri facias instructing the sheriff of Victoria to seize the goods and chattels of Victoria realtor George Randall to liquidate a $58,000 debt, was ordered withdrawn today by lawyer H. K. Bate.

Mr. Bate issued the writ Saturday on behalf of Russel M. Annett, manager of the Malaspina Hotel, Nanaimo, and Mrs. Annett, his wife. The couple claim they paid $58,000 to Randall for 300 shares of capital stock in the hotel but never received the shares.

Mr. Bate disclosed that he ordered the writ withdrawn after conferring this morning with Alan Baker, counsel for Randall.

Mr. Baker said the writ was withdrawn at his request.

TO HOLD MEETING

"A meeting will be held within the next two weeks at which Mr. Randall will meet interested persons," Mr. Baker said. "We hope to hold the meeting before Aug. 9.

Mr. Randall is facing several civil suits in Victoria law courts.

The realtor, who has been residing on the mainland for the past several weeks, is reported to have returned to Victoria.

Taciturn Postman Delivers Letters As Home Blazes

The mail went through today despite smoke and flames which poured out of a Market Street house.

Witnesses to a fire at 779 Market watched as the postman trudged up the front steps, unconcernedly dropped several letters through the mail slot and carried on with his appointed rounds as firemen fought a blaze in the back room.

The fire, believed to have started in a wood box beside the kitchen stove, damaged the rear portion of the house.

Owner Jagat Singh said damage is covered by insurance.

Fancy Blue Jeans Styled For Active 'Young Ladies'

By PENNY SAVER

Hi there, little miss!

Do you know what I've found for you. I bet you can't guess. So you want to know all about it, do you? In that case, I guess I'd better hurry up and tell you.

When I was passing through a store downtown this morning I saw a fancy pair of jeans, just right for a young miss like you.

Now I suppose you are wondering what color these jeans are and how much Mommy will have to pay for them. Well, first of all, they come in a beautiful red shade, turquoise and, of course, the traditional blue color of jeans.

They are priced at $2.98.

And Mother, this part will interest you. The waistband is elasticized, and for a little different touch, the pockets have a cut-away effect so that little hands can get into them easily.

★ ★ ★

Here's another item that little girls love; at least I know I did when I was a very little thing. A sun parasol. I guess the favorite is the Chinese paper parasol which is ablaze with color.

I wouldn't advise them for little boys, but dainty little girls will love them to bits. And they are only 55 pennies.

Horrors to Betsy! Do you know that Canadians ate an estimated 61,948,200 cans of corn last year?

Astounding, what?

Canadians are becoming big consumers of canned sweet corn and government figures show that for the second successive year corn was the nation's number two canned vegetable from a volume standpoint.

Topping the list is green peas.

Something else you might like to know is that a special development of "C-enamel" prevents the tarnishing of the inside of corn cans.

When you think about it, though, we surely are lucky to be able to pop out to the corner store and return with dinner in a can and all we have to do is put it in a pot and heat it.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Husbands and Wives Are Just Human Beings

A happy marriage can keep you younger longer or give you a nervous breakdown sooner than anything else. Most young women, and older ones for that matter, go into marriage with many misconceptions about their mate.

They think of him as the Prince Charming who will always be kind and gentle, who will anticipate their every wish, who will understand all of their moods and be constantly attentive. Then they marry him and find out that he is human!

He catches colds, has the stomachache, gets tired, and at times, is unreasonable and irritable just like anyone else. Horrors of horrors, he hates criticism and likes praise just as she does. He leaves the towels on the bathroom floor, puts his feet on the table and sometimes even dashes ashes on the rug. He doesn't love her!

She, on her part, believes that he can work all day and play all night, that he can build success without paying a price for it and that he will bounce back each evening, after a hard day at the office or the plant, with perpetual Jimmy Durante verve. What a letdown!

Those who have listened to thousands of divorce cases say that the most important asset for a happy marriage is for both the man and woman to put their marriage first and give real thought to it. This attitude, plus emotional maturity, will sidetrack most of the difficulties which arise.

There are, of course, some men who could not be fit into a happy marriage by Cleopatra and Dorothy Dix put together, but a tactful, gay, understanding woman can go a long way toward achieving that goal.

It is ideal if both parties in the marriage give serious consideration to it but it is certain that trouble, or at least frustration, will ensue if both take it for granted. Home and marriage are a woman's career and she is usually better fitted by nature to be the molder of romance.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 63 "Keeping Romance Alive," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

AS WE LIVE

Take Him or Leave Him; You Can't Make Him Over

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a person is in the wrong for something he has said or done, an apology is always in order. Whether the person to whom the apology is given will accept it or not is a different story. That is the problem facing the girl who writes:

Hurlock

(Q.) "I have been going out for six months with a boy in the service. He comes from another part of the country and is stationed near here. The other night I had a fight with him. I don't care for his friends as they haven't a high standard of character. When I tried to tell him this, he told me it was not my business and that he would go with whom he pleases. This hurt me because, as he sees these people, his character will go downhill. He is already different from what he was when I met him. Should I apologize, since I started the fight?"

(A.) By all means apologize to him. It was none of your business and you had no right to tell him with whom he should associate. Only if you are engaged to him should you feel free to discuss such personal matters.

You can't be sure that he will forgive but it is worth a try, if you sincerely care for him. But stop trying to reform him. You will lose him for sure if you put yourself in the role of his guardian. There is nothing a man resents more than having a girl he goes with tell him what to do.

There is an old saying that is usually true to form. This is "birds of a feather flock together." He may not have changed since you first knew him as much as you think. He probably went with the same type of people in his home town.

You saw him as you wanted to see him, not as he really was, when you first knew him. Now you are seeing him honestly. You have the choice of taking him as he is or leaving him. Don't be foolish enough to think that you can make him over to fit your own pattern.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Mother of Famed Hockey Players Says 'Dad' Made Them First Puck

It was the Dorohoy boys' father who started the family (four boys and a girl) on the road to being hockey players. At least, that's what Mother Dorohoy says. She was in Victoria this weekend for the wedding of one of her now-famous sons.

"When they were very little my husband used to make them small hockey sticks," she said, "and then he'd take an old stocking and make a puck.

"They'd wait until I went out and then they would play hockey all over the house.

"I'd find scratches on the furniture and pieces off the chairs and I'd know there had been a game going on when my back was turned."

When the children were a little older, Mr. Dorohoy made them a rink in the back yard of their home in Medicine Hat.

"That was all right in winter," Mrs. Dorohoy remembers, "but they were right back in the house again when the ice melted in the spring."

While Mr. Dorohoy was teaching the children to play hockey, Mother Dorohoy was kept busy feeding her family of five.

Home-made bread, vegetables (out of their own garden, where the rink had been in the winter) the children's favorite borsch, cabbage rolls, and many other savory dishes, the recipes brought by her grandmother from her home in Austria and taught her by her own mother on the prairie farm where she lived as a girl.

Mrs. Dorohoy still makes bread. And she still has a big vegetable garden and cans her own fruit and vegetables.

And when she visits any one of her family, almost the first thing she has to do is to make her famed borsch, or her cabbage rolls.

"They keep me busy," she says with a little smile of pride, "even if I am supposed to be on a holiday."

Proud as she is of her two famed sons, Eddie and Ollie, she finds she cannot watch them play professional hockey.

"I never have been able to do that," she said, "I get too excited! So I stay at home and listen to the radio instead."

She does not like the idea of her sons playing against each other. And she shakes her head a little sadly, as she says, "It doesn't seem right to me. They always played together when they were little."

Mrs. Dorohoy did go to a game last winter in New Westminster in which both her sons were playing.

"Never again!" she says, "I couldn't stand it!"

It was for the wedding of her son Eddie and Miss Shirley Switzer last Saturday evening that Mrs. Dorohoy and her husband came to Victoria. They left for New Westminster today for a few days more with Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Dorohoy before returning to their home in Medicine Hat.

Because ripe olives are always high on the list of favorite foods at our house, we often start off a guest dinner with an olive cocktail. Cut pitted ripe olives into quarters and combine with an equal amount of sliced celery. Serve in cocktail glasses with a generous topping of your favorite cocktail sauce and a sprinkling of finely chopped chives.

New Toni
WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION

Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

Which Twin's Toni was set a week ago—and which was set today?

Yes, both twins have Toni's. Julia Lacy, on the left, had hers set just before this picture was taken—Cynthia, on the right, had her Toni set one whole week before and never re-set it! You can't tell the difference. Here's proof that Priceless Pink Lotion gives a wave that stays lovely without re-setting!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Met a friend of mine in the bus on Saturday evening. Just at dusk.

Friend looked a mite disheveled. Her hat was on the back of her head. Hair not quite in place. Make-up had disappeared. And she was quite definitely weary.

'What's happened to you?" I said.

"Been at Sooke Day celebrations," she answered, as she sank down in the seat beside me with a sigh of relief. "Oh, it's good to sit down!"

"Bessie"

"Always thought All-Sooke Day was a lot of fun," I said.

"Agreed!" my friend answered. "It is a lot of fun. But somehow I didn't have time to enjoy it.

"You see I went out with my niece and nephew and their two small children. I was drafted to take care of the three-year-old because my niece had some sort of idea she could get the baby entered in the baby show."

A wild look came into her eyes.

"The baby had to have a nap before we left and we were late getting started. And the road was crowded with cars.". . . She looked at me and gasped. "Ever see that Sooke road when it was crowded with cars?"

"Nephew's a good driver, isn't he?" I said, to break the tension.

"Of course he is," she came back at me, "but it's the other drivers you've got to reckon with."

She sighed and sank back a little further in the seat. "We finally got there," she went on, "later than ever. And there was no place to park.

"It was getting close to 2 o'clock, so we got out of the car, left my nephew to park it somewhere and rushed frantically through the crowd to find the tent where the babies were to be entered in the show.

"The three-year-old wanted to stop every few yards so I got away behind my niece. Lost her completely.

"Caught up with her when she was coming away from the tent. Seems the show was for rural babies. The ones from Victoria couldn't enter.

"So, we had all that scurrying and hurrying for nothing!

"Things went from bad to worse from then on. Babies got tired. Couldn't find my nephew. Couldn't find the car. Didn't get near the food for hours there was such a crowd.

"Finally we all got together again. The children were crying, my niece was nearly crying too, she was so disappointed she didn't get the baby in the show.

"Nephew was hot and dusty. He'd been looking for us the better part of the afternoon. So we decided to come home.

"Car was parked away up the road. By the time we got into it the crowd was coming away and we had all that traffic to contend with again.

"I dropped out of the party when we got back to the city and went in and had a good cup of tea and a sandwich. Now I'm going home to soak my feet in hot water and get to bed."

The bus stopped at her street and she got up with a heavy sigh and tottered to the door.

"It's been quite a day!" she muttered.

"Think you'll take in All-Sooke Day next year?" I called after her.

She looked back at me—and a smile crinkled the corners of her eyes. "I might at that," she said, "after all, it's a lot of fun" . . . "If my niece has her way we'll be living in Sooke next year . . . then we'll get our baby in the show."

Former Victorian Married In Prince Rupert Recently

A wedding of interest to Victorians took place in Prince Rupert recently when Rev. H. O. Olson heard the nuptial vows of Anna Beketov, daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. N. A. Beketov, Prince Rupert, formerly of Victoria, and Rev. L. A. Thorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thorpe, Duncan.

Summer flowers decorated Regular Baptist Church, Prince Rupert. R. Kilborn played organ music.

Cmdr. Beketov gave his daughter in marriage.

The bridal gown was fashioned in white satin touched with a lace yoke and spaced inserts around the floor-length skirt. The sheath sleeves came to a lily-point and the lace yoke was contrasted with a satin collar. A finger-tip veil of embroidered illusion net misted from a coronet of lace and the bride carried a bouquet of red roses, blue delphiniums and lily of the valley.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Nadia Beketov. She wore a pink net over white satin gown and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations tinged with pink.

Clifford Levelton, Prince Rupert, was best man, and ushers were Stan Wilbee and Carl Fredericks, both of Vancouver.

At the reception in the home of the bride's parents, the bride's table was covered with a handmade lace cloth and centred with a three-tier cake topped with a scale model of an Elizabethean galleon made by the bride's father. Clifford Levelton proposed the toast.

The couple honeymooned in Vancouver and also motored in Washington and Oregon.

For traveling, the bride wore an eggshell knitted suit topped with a camel hair coat. Her accessories were dark green and her corsage, double gardenias.

The newlyweds will make their home in Prince Rupert.

Pastel Summer Flowers Placed At Altar of Church in Oak Bay

In a summer setting of shell pink and white gladioli interspersed with white daisies and fern, Barbara Jean Stewart and Raymon Lewis Wheeler repeated nuptial vows at the altar of Oak Bay United Church, Saturday evening. Rev. W. W. McPherson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stewart, 1571 Hampshire Road, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler, 2646 Quadra Street.

To wedding music played by Miss Vera Barclay, the bride, on the arm of her father, walked slowly up the aisle in a traditional white satin gown. The form-fitting bodice of honeycomb smocking featured a dainty Queen Anne collar and fingertip-length lily point sleeves. Slightly en train at the back, the full skirt was accentuated with full-length peplums over a stiffened crinoline. She wore a gold pendant with rhinestones and pearls, the gift of the groom. Her chapel length veil of white illusion net was caught to a halo of white satin, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white gladioli and swainsona.

Bridal attendants Miss June Wheeler, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, sister-in-law of the bride, were dressed alike in pale blue and pink taffeta, respectively. Their halo hats of ruffled net were complemented with bouquets of gladioli and larkspur.

Best man was Gay Wheeler, brother of the groom, and ushers were Kenneth Stewart and Kerry McKenzie.

At a reception in Norway House Hall, guests were received by the newly-weds, who stood below a large white bell. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated to resemble a church, with a tiny bride and groom silhouetted in the doorway.

The bridal table, covered with lace cloth, was decorated with white candles in silver holders and baskets of pink and white gladioli. Eric Stewart, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

For a honeymoon in Portland, Ore., Mrs. Wheeler wore a dusky rose knitted dress with rose and white accessories. The couple will live in Chatham, N.B.

A ballerina-length bridal gown of orchid embossed organza was worn by Elizabeth Ann Craig, Saturday evening, when she exchanged nuptial vows with Charles Robert Clarke.

Rev. R. J. Pierce, Bishop of Athabaska, officiated at the ceremony in St. John's Church for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Craig, Blackwood Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Clarke, Grange Road.

White gladioli and fern decorated the church and Miss Joyce Richardson played traditional wedding music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father. During the signing of the register, John Boel sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The fitted bodice of the bride's gown was contrasted with a bouffant skirt. The finger-tip length veil misted from a pearl coronet and she carried a bouquet of mauve orchids surrounded with white stocks.

At a reception in the Business and Professional Women's clubrooms, the bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake and topped with the same decoration as topped her parent's cake. Elmer Watson proposed the toast.

For traveling to the Mainland on her honeymoon, Mrs. Clarke wore a sheer yellow dress with white accessories and a mauve orchid corsage topped with a white shortie coat.

Gown of Satin and Net Worn by Carmen Hocking

A double-ring ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday evening united Carmen Louise Hocking in marriage with Jack Lorenzo Wright.

Rev. R. J. Pierce, Bishop of Athabaska, officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Painter, Viewfield Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wright, Esquimalt Road.

Miss Joyce Richardson, organist, accompanied John Bray when he sang "O Lord My God," during the signing of the register.

Standard baskets of white gladioli decorated the church and guest pews were marked with clusters of red carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father.

An exquisite gown fashioned with satin strapless bodice and double crinolined net skirt was topped with a satin redingote buttoned to the waist and styled with a Mandarin collar and long lily-point sleeves. The bride's headdress of white satin dotted with tiny seed pearls held a waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations centred with a white orchid.

Matron of honor, Mrs. J. Hallam, wore a gown of mauve net over taffeta and bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn King in blue net over taffeta, Miss Joy Keays in pink, and flower girl, Julia Matson, in light blue embossed net over taffeta. Arthur Browne, brother-in-law of the bride, proposed the toast at the reception in the Odd Fellows' Hall. The head table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with silver candlesticks and summer flowers. The newlyweds received guests under an arch decorated in pink and white and covered with flowers.

For motoring to San Francisco, Mrs. Wright wore a blue gabardine suit styled with Mandarin neckline and peplum back. Her accessories were white with a cocoa hat, matching shoes and a white orchid corsage.

Pink gladioli decorated the church and organ music was played by Miss M. McKay. During the signing of the register, Miss Madonna McCabe sang "Ava Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by Frederick Switzer, wore a strapless gown of nylon net over taffeta with lace bodice covered with a lace redingote styled with stand-up collar. Her cascade bouquet was orchid and swainsona and her only jewelry was a watch, gift of the groom.

Attendants were Miss Pat Smith in green, Miss Dorothy Popplewell in gold, and Miss Barbara Jones in mauve. They wore identical strapless gowns of net over taffeta with small net capes and matching halos of sweet peas. Their bouquets were gardenias and sweet peas.

Man Injured as Ships Collide

SEATTLE, July 28 (AP)—One man was injured slightly Sunday when the 10,600-ton Luckenbach freighter Marine Snapper collided with the Canadian coastal freighter Vita C in the fog off Whidbey Island in Puget Sound.

The injured man, whose name was not immediately available, was identified only as the engineer of the Vita C, which was bound from Seattle to Vancouver.

The Marine Snapper, inbound to Seattle from San Francisco, received a gaping hole in her side. The Vita C's bow was damaged. Both vessels proceeded to Seattle under their own power.

CHUTE FAILS, WOMAN KILLED

BUDD LAKE, N.J., July 28. (AP).—A young mother, clawing at an unopened parachute, fell 2,500 feet to her death Sunday trying to become a member of a parachuting for fun club organized by her ex-paratrooper husband.

"I killed her, I killed her," shrieked Joseph Berard.

His 24-year-old wife, Dorothy, mother of a four-month-old daughter, plummeted to the ground before 700 spectators at initiation exercises of the Sky Divers' Club at Budd Lake airport.

Almost 4,000,000 motorists got stuck in mud, sand and snow in 1951, according to the American Magazine.

PARENTS SHOULDN'T PANIC

Nightmare Garb Stripped From Polio's Paralysis

This is the time of the year when poliomyelitis is most likely to strike. Here is the first of four articles on the dread disease written for the Victoria Daily Times and NEA Service by Dr. Edwin P. Jordan.

Last year I joined the ranks of those who have had a child stricken with polio. Probably no one who has not gone through this harrowing experience can fully realize the mental anguish which is involved.

Even so, the blind fear which afflicts so many parents during times when polio becomes comparatively common should be avoided, since it does no good.

Although polio can and does cause deaths and severe crippling, the chances that it will not are pretty good. It is now regarded as a disease in which only one in 100—in some cases even less — of those infected become paralyzed. In many of these, the illness is so slight that a diagnosis of polio is not even made.

Another bright side to the picture is that only half of those in whom the diagnosis can be made suffer any permanent paralysis, and even in many of those who do, the paralysis is of a minor nature, and recovery can go a long way.

But it is a terrible disease. What then can be done to prevent it?

CAUSED BY VIRUS

Polio is now known to be caused by a virus, of which there are several known varieties or strains. This virus is present in the discharges from the nose and throat, and in the intestinal waste of those who have the disease, and of others who are so slightly sick that a diagnosis of polio cannot even be made.

These and other known facts bring polio into the class of contagious diseases, or diseases which are spread from person to person.

It is felt that close association with infected persons accounts for the great majority of cases, but, since many of these do not have active signs of disease, prevention of the spread of the virus is still exceedingly difficult.

At present, the most important measures in the control of polio are to make early diagnosis of the disease and to hospitalize those who are affected.

Toronto Unchanged

TORONTO, July 28 (CP)—Prices showed few changes today toward the close of a dull stock market session.

Trading slackened from a quiet opening. Albermont Petroleum added pennies in a turnover of more than 160,000 shares. Volume for the session totalled about 1,500,000 shares.

Papers and miscellaneous issues posted a scattered list of fractional advances to form industrials' strongest sections. Steels, refining oils, agricultures, constructions and manufacturing companies balanced gains and losses but utilities and foods eased.

Western oils showed a large majority of moderate losses. Sweet Grass, Tower Petroleum and Peak Oil traded actively but made little headway.

Base metal leaders showed strength but lower-priced issues were mixed. Chromium climbed while Mayo traded actively but showed little change.

Senior golds sagged. Losses, however, were moderate. Junior producers and prospects showed little change.

Montreal Higher

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP)—Mild support led the stock exchange and curb market on higher ground in today's slow trading.

Plus signs held the edge from the opening but minus markers became more numerous as the session progressed.

Miscellaneous industrials took over the leadership in the upswing as other major groups turned irregular. Simpson's B and Industrial Acceptance climbed a point to 41 and 53, respectively. Papers and carriers were also firmer.

Aluminum jumped a point to 104. Included in the fractional gains were C.P.R., Dominion Bridge, Imperial Oil, McColl-Frontenac, Seagrams, Shawinigan, Brazilian, Price Brothers and Imperial Tobacco.

Vancouver Steady

VANCOUVER, July 28—Noon close. Stocks held to levels in moderate turnover at Vancouver Exchange in the early session today and lists closed with few price changes.

Investment interest was evenly distributed among western oils and base metals. A long list of the oils showed prices unchanged at closing time. Base metal leaders were fractionally stronger. Yankee Princess closed at $1.20; Quatsino 49; Estella $1.35; Canadian Western Lumber $9.25.

London Slow

LONDON, July 28 (Reuters)—The stock market turned generally dull after last week's late show of firmness.

Gilt-edged were widely up to ⅜ lower although little actual selling was encountered. Scattered losses of a few pence were registered in the industrial section, particularly in the textile and engineering groups. Oils lost their early firmness, Canadian Eagle registered losihg 6 pence to 32 shillings 10½ pence.

Foreign bonds were relatively active. Romanian, Hungarian and Bulgarian bonds were nominally marked up by as much as five points following a treasury announcement that distribution of those countries' assets would shortly be made in the United Kingdom.

Local professional support prevented gold shares from slipping back with the rest of the market.

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 64s 4½d, Boots Pure Drug 19s 1½d, Canadian Pacific $64¾, Central Mining £1 27/32, Consolidated Gold Fields 44s 4½d, Courtaulds 33s 9d, De Beers 63s 3d, Hudson's Bay Co. 206s 3d, Imperial Chemical 43s 3d, Imperial Tobacco 82s 6d, Metal Box 50s 3d, Rand Mines 97s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½ per cent Consols £50⅝, British 3½ percent War Loans £73⅜, British Fundings 4s 1960-1990 £97⅛.

Big British Firm Gets Into Canada Oil Play

By BURKE CAHILL, Times Business Editor

A team of experts from the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company will arrive in Canada shortly to explore prospects in the Alberta oil fields.

The Canadian Press reports from London today that the visiting British oil men include Peter Cox, one-time general manager in Iran, John W. Jackson, former superintendent of Anglo-Iranian field operations and John Watson, company geologist.

Cahill

The big British oil firm has already set up headquarters in Calgary. Financial circles have been expecting news of a possible deal to put Anglo-Iranian into the Alberta picture ever since a scouting party of officials from the firm visited Alberta six months ago.

So far, company representatives have declined to reveal specific plans for taking part in the Canadian oil play.

SWING TO CANADA

Sir William Fraser, chairman of Anglo-Iranian, made no mention of Canada in his last annual report to shareholders but since then the decision of the international court at the The Hague, which refused to deal with the dispute with Iran, seems to have removed all hope of further operations in Iran. Accordingly, the company may now decide to divert a portion of its capital development to western Canada.

The entry of such a big operator as Anglo-Iranian into western Canada may be expected to provide a further fillip to oil development here.

For a time, shortage of equipment due to the steel strike threatened a slowdown in field work in the Prairies. But now that steel supplies will be forthcoming the drill teams can push ahead.

Marketing prospects also are brighter for the oil producers. The recent decision of Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line to boost the initial throughput in the huge line to the B.C. coast, now being built, is seen as a direct result of improved marketing prospects for Western Canadian crude.

PRODUCTION UP

Indications point to a new oil production record in Alberta during August. Purchasers of Alberta's crude are asking for 194,495 barrels daily during the month, an increase of 2,169 barrels daily over July's record production and some 25,000 barrels greater than the average daily production a year ago.

Bulk of the production is scheduled for transport through the Interprovincial Pipeline and Imperial Oil is asking for delivery of 141,390 barrels daily. British American Oil Co., is asking 24,910 barrels daily to rate as second purchaser.

British participation in Canada's broadening oil boom will be welcomed for its promise of long-term benefits to Britain's balance of payments position as well as, for the added impetus which Anglo-Iranian's entry can give to the oil industry here. British capital, which grub staked so much of the industrial development of former generations can't expect returns from oil development here for some years. But it will find a secure haven here and in time will inevitably help to build up Britain's "invisible exports" which were so badly denuded in the war years.

* * *

The egg business is big business in Canada.

More than 20,000,000 Canadian hens are laying to the tune of some 400,000,000 dozen—or close to 5,000,000,000 eggs a year.

That adds up to around $100,000,000 annual take for the egg side of the poultry industry.

The bureau of statistics has just come out with figures to show the hens weren't laying as well in June as they were in the previous month, but still better than they did in June, 1951. Average production per hen in June this year was 15.5 eggs compared with 17.4 eggs in May and 15.1 in June last year.

Imperial Pension Boosted by U.K.

Changes in the National Insurance Benefits have been announced by the British Ministry of Pensions.

Total of increases in the pensions is expected to exceed $25,000,000, according to an extract from the English Hansard.

The special allowance which is payable to a war pensioner who is under treatment for his war disability and who does not receive the sickness benefit under national insurance, will be increased from $3.51 to $4.39 a week. The allowance for his wife or adult dependents will rise from $2.16 to $2.90 and the allowance for his first child from $1.35 to $1.42.

The increase in the allowance for a dependent wife from $2.16 to $2.90 and for the first child from $1.35 to $1.42 will also apply in the case of a severely disabled pensioner receiving the unemployment supplement, at all times, whether he is undergoing treatment or not.

The allowance for constant attendance which a 100 per cent disabled war veteran pensioner may receive will be increased. The normal maximum will go up from $2.70 to $3.37 and the exceptional maximum from $5.41 to $6.76 with appropriate increases in grants below these maximum. About 9,000 pensioners receiving attendance will benefit from this change.

Basic pension rates for orphans will be increased from $1.82 to $2.03 for children up to 15 years; and from $2.70 to $2.90 for children over 15 years. The rate for the invalid orphan over 18 years will be increased from $3.51 to $4.39.

Estimated cost of these improvements is $308,000 a year. Increases will go into effect at the end of July except raises in orphans' pensions which will not go into effect until September.

Comino Dam Project Okayed

CORNWALL, Ont., July 28 (CP).—For 18 months the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail, B.C., has been attempting to get the International Joint Commission to issue an order permitting the construction of a $32,000,000 hydro electric dam on the Pend Oreille River.

The approval was needed because a creek flowing into the Canadian river originated in the United States and 2.7 acres of American bushland would be flooded.

During the hearings just terminated here on the power phase of the St. Lawrence River development project, a company official conducted a one-man lobby on the I.J.C. He left Cornwall to fly home last night, the order tucked in his briefcase.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

Today the major events begin in the national bridge tournament at Cincinnati, and hundreds of famous bridge stars will spend seven or eight hours each day playing bridge and four or five hours each night discussing what might have been. The average bridge fan would probably be amazed to hear some of these discussions.

The hand shown today, for example, provoked quite a bit of postmortem pow-wow in last year's tournament. And the only hand that was considered worthy of discussion was the West hand—which would make the average player shudder but would hardly stir him to deep thought.

Opening lead—♣ 2

But the whole point of the hand is the selection of West's opening lead. If West woodenly leads the five of hearts (fourth best from his longest and strongest suit), declarer wins 12 tricks. He wins the heart in dummy, draws three rounds of trumps, cashes the top diamonds and gives up a diamond.

The rest is easy. Dummy can take the club return and cash the two good diamonds, allowing South to get rid of his two losing clubs. South then ruffs dummy's low club, and dummy is high.

If West opens a club, however, declarer makes only 11 tricks. East must get in with a diamond in time to cash a club trick.

This would be small potatoes to the average player for a very good reason. He plays only rubber bridge, and the difference of 30 points is insignificant. At tournament bridge, however, that difference of 30 points is just as important as bidding a slam on some other hand.

Why should West lead a club rather than a heart? Either lead has about the same chance to come through a king or an ace-queen in the dummy. The heart lead, however, is more likely to strike a short suit in dummy or in declarer's hand; so it is less likely to be productive.

A further point is that East is bound to have fair strength if the opponents were correct in not even trying for a slam. If East had a good heart suit, he would have bid one heart over the opening bid of one diamond. If East had good clubs, however, he might well have been unable to overcall in that suit at the level of two. Hence East is slightly more likely to have good clubs than good hearts.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By RON BAIRD

The C.B.C. will present Fotheringay—1587, a B.B.C. transcribed play about Bloody Mary and Good Queen Bess, tonight at 6.

In writing it, David Scott Daniell went to contemporary sources, including letters and accounts, to give an unbiased picture of historic events and to keep a balance between the conflicting personalities of Protestant Elizabeth, Queen of England, and Roman Catholic Mary, Queen of Scots.

The play, broadcast from the B.B.C. Midland studios in a production by William Hughes, open on the morning of Feb. 18, 1587, in Fotheringay Castle, where a crowd is gathering to watch the execution of Mary.

At 7.30, Classics for Today will feature pianist Marian Barnum with the C.B.C. Vancouver String Orchestra under Jean de Rimanoczy.

The Bottle Imp by Fobert Louis Stevenson will be heard on Quartette by R.L.S. at 9.30.

It is considered one of the author's best-known stories and has been adapted for radio by Poppy McKenzie.

* * *

Ezio Pinza will return to the Telephone Hour tonight as guest soloist on KOMO at 9.

Highlights of the program will be Pinza's rendition of an aria from "Within These Holy Portals" from Mozart's "The Magic Flute" and the overture to "The Barber of Seville" by the orchestra.

Singers Gordon MacRae and Dorothy Warenskjold will commemorate the 200th broadcast of The Railroad Hour with an original musical play "The Pirate of New Orleans" on KOMO at 8.30.

TONIGHT ALSO . . . on KIRO, the Steve Allen Show at 6.30 and Arthur Godfrey at 8.30; on KOMO, Dangerous Assignment at 7.30.

Radio times and programs are furnished by stations and networks and are subject to last minute changes. The Times assumes no responsibility for inaccurate listings.

Young Doukhobors Still Oppose War

GRAND FORKS, B.C., July 28 (BUP).—Young members of the Union of Doukhobors of Canada Saturday declared unanimously in a convention at Grand Forks, B.C., that they still oppose war.

The young orthodox Doukhobors said they "were, are and will be, as our forefathers, objectors to war on the basis of the teaching of Jesus Christ."

They added, "we ask all nations to come to reason, to stop the shedding of human blood and to establish peace, brotherhood and equality of all peoples."

The Doukhobors condemned arson, bombing and nude parades by their radical brothers, but denounced articles degrading Doukhobors as "not striving in the interests of unity but contributing to disunity and harm to the society."

With the purchase in 1951 of a five-year-old Hereford bull, Baca Prince Domino 20th, for $87,500, A. H. Karpe of Bakersfield, Calif., established a new world's record price paid for a beef bull.

Teachers End Summer Grind In Classroom

When the last lecture is heard and the last examination written at provincial summer school Friday and Saturday, 1,578 teachers will breathe sighs of relief.

For most it will mean the long-awaited summer vacation away from books, pupils and fellow teachers.

This fifth and final week will see them completing courses with some teachers writing matriculation, history and English examinations.

In addition to lectures there will be exhibits of work, concerts and dramatic performances.

FILM REVIEW

TWO FOR THE SHOW

AA (Oscar class). BB (Worthwhile).
A (Don't miss). B (For rainy days).
C (To put in time).

By PHIL LEE

(BB) "JUMPING JACKS" (Royal)—Comedians Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are definitely like olives—an acquired taste. Up until "Jumping Jacks" they were a trifle hard to swallow but something must have happened to me of late because Saturday night I found myself lapping up their psycopathic exploits amidst camera chicanery with sickening relish.

Lee

Of course the plot, Lewis, an entertainer, going to help out his buddy, Martin—who is a paratrooper—and becoming a member of Uncle Sam's forces in a very unofficial capacity, lends itself to wonderful possibilities which this Hal Wallis production milks to the last drop.

True the Martin-Lewis combination is no such wonderful team as the old Laurel-Hardy effort, nor is either of them comparable to the genius portrayed by Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton or Charlie Chaplin. None the less, they are very funny men, especially Jerry Lewis who, if he had been a race horse, could have been registered as Frankenstein out of Horror.

There are several very funny sequences in the show that calls on the ability of the cameraman and the cutting room. One is Lewis making a parachute jump sans chute. Another is Lewis during army manoeuvres capturing the "enemy" general and taking him on a wild jeep ride. But for me the funniest sequence of all is Lewis, who has been smuggled into the camp to help out with a show, gradually rising in rank until he is senior to his bona fide buddies.

However, a word of warning: If you don't like genuine 14-kt slapstick mounted on and surrounded by camera trickery please, please stay away from this one.

Longyearbyen (Longyear City), administrative capital of Spitzbergen, was named for John M. Longyear, a Bostonian who in 1905 conducted the first large scale coal mining operations in the icy Arctic archipelago.

Canadian Boxers Doing Well in Olympic Games

HELSINKI, July 28 (CP)—Clayton Kenny of Ottawa scored a technical knockout over Niels Berthelsen of Denmark in the third round of their lightweight boxing match today. The bout was in the first round of the lightweight class.

Earlier featherweight Leonard Walters of Vancouver had outpointed an Egyptian boxer to win his match in the Olympic Games featherweight competition first round.

The 20-year-old Walters took an unanimous decision from El Din Ahmed Fathi in the three-round match.

See page 8 for earlier stories on Olympics.

Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Gerry McNamee, of Vancouver, each finished third in their respective heats in the men's 400-metre freestyle swimming championship and qualified to enter Tuesday's semi-finals.

The United States basketball team, paced by giant Bob Kurland, smothered Russia, European champions 86-58 in a crucial semifinal game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Americans, who have never lost an Olympic basketball tilt, and the first defeat for the Russians.

In the overall Olympic point-scoring Russia is leading the U.S. by 120 points, 496½ to 376. In the track events which concluded Sunday the U.S. topped Russia 219 to 103½.

Crash Kills Autocyclist 'Pat' Cole

A well-known city motorcyclist was killed and a second youth was injured Sunday night when their two machines collided simultaneously with an old-model car at View and Cook.

Dead is John "Pat" Cole, 21, of 2745 Scott Street, who succumbed to injuries at Jubilee Hospital about one hour after the accident.

He sustained a fractured skull, internal injuries and a broken leg.

Injured but in good condition at hospital today is the second motorcyclist, Barry R. Stranix, 20, of 2214 Sayward, an employee of the Victoria Press Ltd. commercial printing department.

He is recovering from head injuries and cuts.

Driver of the car was reported by police to be Robert E. Forscutt, 574 Bay.

His wife and small daughter were in the car with him.

Police said the two motocyclists were traveling north on Cook and the car, west on View, when the collision occurred. All three vehicles received medium damage.

City police ambulances took the injured cyclists to hospital.

INQUEST SET

An inquest will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Hayward's funeral home into the death of Cole.

One of the most popular members of Victoria motorcycling circles, "Pat" Cole had been an employee of Les Blow motorcycle sales on Douglas for the past three years and was the subject of a feature story in the July 25 edition of the Victoria Times.

Although he stood no more than four feet two inches, the 21-year-old mechanic placed in the first three in cross-country motor-cycle trials on an English machine that weighed only five pounds less than its rider.

FINE RIDER

His boss, Les Blow, said of him: "Pat had a tougher grind of it by a long shot than the average Joe on a motor-cycle over rough, hazardous trails in a cross-country trial.

He is survived by his parents.

Dies in U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Senator Brien McMahon, 48, a Connecticut Democrat with a passion for peace and a key role in the United States atomic energy program, died today of a spinal ailment.

He entered hospital last month for an operation.

8 Killed in Crush to See Eva's Body

BUENOS AIRES, July 28 (AP).—Eight persons were reported dead and scores injured in the crush today as thousands crowded up to pay last homage to Eva Peron.

Doctors manning improvised first aid stations near the ministry of labor, where the body of Argentina's first lady was lying in state, said some deaths resulted from trampling, others from heart failure.

They said thousands were given first aid, but most of these had only fainted. Many, however, suffered fractured legs or arms.

Troops hurried in to help police control the crowds as they lined up four abreast in mile-long queues for a 20-second walk past the bier of President Juan D. Peron's wife and political partner, who died Saturday night after a long illness.

Many waited, eight hours for a glimpse of the body.

Peron spent much of Sunday beside the casket. After a private funeral mass, attended only by government ministers and intimate friends, he ordered the restless crowds admitted. They had shouted to see the body, and once broke a police cordon to get closer to the entrance.

Sewell Resigns

CINCINNATI, July 28 (AP).—Luke Sewell resigned today as manager of Cincinnati Reds.

He had been manager since Oct. 23, 1949.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the National League club, said he had asked Sewell to continue as manager "until we can get a suitable replacement which we expect to have within 24 hours."

Closing Prices

Trading was slow at Vancouver Exchange in the final session today. Stocks moved in a narrow price range and lists closed with only scattered fractional changes.

Western oil issues shaded off in light trading with minor setbacks confined mostly to low-priced stocks.

Early mild support for base metal leaders disappeared towards the close and left mining stocks on the off side.

Chase Ends In Murder

Shoots Father, Abducts Daughter

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP)—Cornered by police after a wild chase, a 25-year-old burglar today shot and killed his sweetheart and then committed suicide with a .32 automatic.

Police said Frank Steele, 23, who had wounded the girl's father in a gun battle an hour earlier, shot Betty Webber, 19, through the eye in the bathroom of an apartment he had rented yesterday. Then he shot himself through the ear, police said.

Steele and the girl had been scheduled to appear in county court today to face trial on a burglary charge.

Police said Steele apparently wanted to prevent the girl from testifying.

He went to the girl's home about an hour before court opened, broke down the door and shot Harry Webber, 52, in the right leg when Webber tried to prevent him from speaking to his daughter. Neighbors said the girl had been going out with Steele against her father's wishes.

ACCOMPLICE HELD

Police said Steele and another man with him forced the girl at gunpoint into a car. They fled.

The other man was picked up soon after. Police held him as a material witness.

Squads of police chased Steele's fire-red car through city streets but lost him.

They then received a tip that Steele had rented an apartment on West Sixth Avenue yesterday. Warned that Steele was armed, they approached with drawn guns from four sides.

They heard two shots as they closed in. They found the two bodies in the bathroom.

Police said it was possible Steele had intended to hide out in the apartment until he could leave the city.

Steele and the girl were charged with three others with breaking an entering a sportswear factory May 5 and stealing clothing valued at $2,800. Steele's bail had been set at $3,000, the girl's at $1,000.

The girl's hair was still up in pincurls when she was found dead.

VICTIM, KILLER SEPARATED BY THIN CURTAIN

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP)—Only a thin curtain in the emergency ward of Vancouver General Hospital separated a wounded father from a dying gunman who had shot him and an hour later killed his pretty daughter.

Harry Webber, shot in the leg, was aware that the dying man in the next cot was Frank Steele, who had shot him more than an hour before.

But Webber did not know that Steele had killed his daughter Betty and then put a bullet into his own head in a suite as armed police closed in on the hideout.

Refusal Of Recount To Be Tested

C.C.F. Announcement Adds to Confusion

B.C.'s political picture got a new touch of confusion this afternoon when C.C.F. leader Harold Winch announced his party will appeal the refusal of a judicial recount of the provincial election result in Vancouver-Burrard riding.

Earlier today Judge J. A. McGeer had refused the recount on a technicality—created because the application had used the name "Burrard" instead of "Vancouver-Burrard."

Following Judge McGeer's ruling Premier Johnson had gone to Government House shortly before noon, presumably to discuss with Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace the arrangements for the changeover in the government.

PLANNED TO QUIT

It was intimated that Premier Johnson was preparing to submit the resignation of his cabinet and to recommend Social Credit leader W. A. C. Bennett form a minority government.

But Burrard — where Social Crediter Bert Price defeated the C.C.F. candidate—is the key riding in the election, since a change in the standing there would reverse the present party status of Social Credit 19 and C.C.F. 18 seats.

In the light of the C.C.F. decision to appeal Judge McGeer's ruling, it is expected Premier Johnson will be further delayed in his plans to vacate office. He had made no statement at press time.

Mr. Johnson went to Government House after consultation with his cabinet ministers.

In his ruling at the recount Judge McGeer said he has no power to amend C.C.F. Grant MacNeil's application for a recount.

Judge McGeer said: "If the legislature intended me to have the powers to amend, the electoral act would have said so. If I acted, I would be flaunting the will of the people."

Another recount, in Vancouver-Point Grey, is expected to be concluded Tuesday.

Approval Is Conditional; Operators Ask More Time

The I.W.A. is prepared to end its six-week-old coast lumber strike on terms proposed last week by Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan.

Decision of lumber operators as to whether they will accept terms outlined in the Sloan settlement formula will not be known, however, until 5 p.m.

Both sides were to have notified the chief justice of their decision by noon.

J. S. Stewart Alsbury, district president of the International Woodworkers of America, telephoned His Lordship at 11.45 a.m., informing him that his terms for settling the multi-million-dollar strike were acceptable to the union's membership, subject to three provisions.

These were:

(1) That there be no discrimination against any of those participating in the strike;

(2) That the Sloan terms be incorporated into a proper agreement and signed before work resumes;

(3) That all injunctions and claims against union personnel be lifted.

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., spokesman for the 162 lumber operators involved, telephoned the chief justice before Mr. Alsbury and reported management had been unable to reach a decision but felt an answer could be given before tonight if an extension of time were allowed.

Chief Justice Sloan consented to a five-hour extension.

CHIEF JUSTICE PLEASED

The quiet-spoken head of the province's judiciary, said he was pleased that the union had found his terms acceptable. He said he would reserve further comment on the matter until he had been notified of the operators' answer.

The chief justice outlined his recommendations for settling the crippling strike last Thursday after sitting seven days as mediator in the dispute.

During that time he studied the situation deeply, and tried to bring the parties to agreement.

Satisfied that no hope existed for a settlement by mutual agreement, Chief Justice Sloan called the two parties together for a final session; he outlined his own plan for settling the involved issues, then sent the two sides away to consider his proposals. He asked that they inform him by noon today whether his terms were acceptable.

The I.W.A. negotiation committee left the decision up to its membership, though the policy committee recommended acceptance.

Woodworkers voted on the issue in a secret-ballot poll taken Sunday at 19 different meetings throughout the province. In Victoria, woodworkers voted at the Club Sirocco. It was one of the biggest union gatherings ever held here.

An estimated 25,000 members participated in the B.C. vote, with the majority favoring acceptance of terms and a return to work.

Main point in the formula is that a 5½-cent-an-hour wage increase be provided for loggers and lumber workers in all classifications.

It also provides for three paid statutory holidays a year, and a reopening of wage talks in six months' time.

MAY SEE TREND

The chief justice pointed out that by the beginning of next year, business trends would be more clearly defined and it will be easier to determine how wages stand in the light of actual lumber sales.

In negotiations up until now, union and management sides were at complete odds over business prospects. One said business was to continue at a high level; the other maintained business was going to fall off badly.

At initial negotiation meetings in the spring, union negotiators demanded a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase, paid holidays, and an operator-financed health and welfare scheme.
